Leading Choice

County Court Post for Hupf?

By DON MILLER

Paul Hupf, city attorney for Daly City for the past nine years, appeared to be the leading choice today for appointment to a third municipal court judge seat in the North County.

mund Brown counsels about job appointments.

A bill that would authorize the third seat in Northern Judicial District Court in South San Francisco has passed the Senate and is now being considered by the Assembly.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee is scheduled to take up the bill today. It will then be debated by the Ways and Means Committee before going to the Assembly floor.

Hupf has acknowledged he's interested in the judgeship, but has politely declined to elaborate on what he thinks his chances are of gaining the appointment.

In the opinion of some observers, Governor Brown may be reluctant to cross party lines and pick a Republican in a gubernatorial election year.

However, many observers feel that Hupf has enough support from both Democrats and Republicans in the county to warrant appointment to what is, essentially, a non-partisan post.

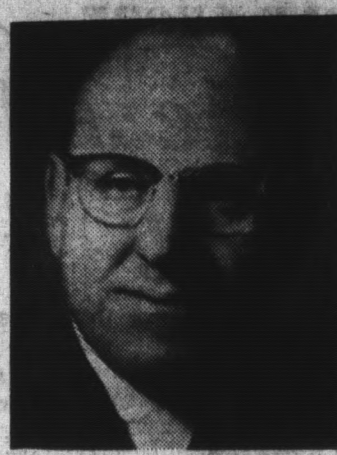

One of Hupf's supporters is known to be Daly City Councilman Francis Pacelli, a Democrat who, in the view of many political observers, has been increasingly taking on a leadership role among Democrats in the North County.

Pacelli is one of Governor Brown's two county co-chairmen.

Pacelli has conferred with the governor on appointments to the board of supervisors to fill vacancies caused by the death of Supervisor Joseph Verducci and the resignation of Edward McDonald.

The councilman, himself, had (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Teacher Resigns, Blasts Trustees

The president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association resigned his teaching post in the Jefferson Elementary School District Monday night and delivered a withering blast at the board and the district administration in the process.

Michael Pennings, a teacher at Thomas Edison School and a member of the district for seven years, said his resignation was "motivated by conditions I feel are not in the best interests of public education in Daly City and Colma."

He read his statement of resignation at the end of a meeting of the board of trustees. The statement was applauded by the audience but drew no comment from the board.

District Supt. Frank Greenwood, however, yesterday issued a statement, assailing Pennings for his action and his comments.

In his blast at the board Monday night, Pennings said trustees had failed to follow their own adopted policies when making administrative appointments.

He also charged that the board had continually harassed the leadership of the teacher organization he heads, that meetings of the board are held unannounced and no minutes kept and that "certain board members and the super-

SELLING POLICIES

Commission Will Probe D.C. Tract

An investigation of alleged racial discrimination in the huge Serramonte tract in Daly City was undertaken last week by the San Mateo County Human Resources Commission.

The local agency thus followed the precedent of its San Francisco counterpart, which last week urged all public and private bodies to refuse to cooperate with the development in any way.

The action came in the wake of last week's California Supreme Court decision, nullifying Proposition 13 and thus putting into effect again the Rumford Act, which prohibits discrimination in housing.

The commission ordered that the matter be put on the agenda for the next meeting and that, in the meantime, its executive director, Robert Hine, prepare a report on the situation.

Carl and Fred Gellert of Standard Builders, Serramonte's developers, will be notified, it was agreed, so that they may be represented at the meeting.

Albert F. Skelly, attorney for the Gellerts, has confirmed that it is the intention of the firm to sell homes only to Caucasians.

Hine said he has already had some discussions with a volunteer citizens' group organized to protest the tract's policy.

Members of the commission wondered what action could be taken in the event the investigation proves the charges to be true.

"It is an area in which we should be involved," said Chair-

U.S. Senator Howard W. Cannon of Nevada will speak Friday evening, before a gathering of Peninsula, state and national officials at the Hyatt House in Burlingame.

The occasion is the Aviation Appreciation Week Banquet, sponsored by the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

Invitations have been accepted by San Bruno and other Peninsula city officials, county supervisors, state legislators and officials representing airline and air industry groups.

The airport management, Federal Aviation Authority, Public Utilities Commission and San Francisco dignitaries are also expected to attend.

Dinner and cocktails begin at 7. Cannon, widely known as an expert on aviation, is a member of the influential Senate Armed Services Committee and Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee.

He is also a major general in the Air Force, and the Senate's only fully qualified jet pilot.

Reservations for the banquet are available through the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, 502 San Mateo Avenue.

Hupf Chair Could Go To D.C. Mayor

Daly City Councilman Albert Polonsky, a lawyer, would be appointed city attorney in the event Paul Hupf, presently city attorney, was named to a third-municipal court judgeship in the north county, according to informed sources.

The same sources said that among the men who would be considered as replacements for Polonsky on the council would be Tony Giammona, an unsuccessful council candidate in 1964, and James Greulich, chairman of the Daly City Personnel Board.

Giammona served as campaign manager for Councilman Edward Dennis and Greulich served in the same capacity for Councilman Micheal DeBernardi in this year's municipal elections.

S.S.F. Gives 1st Approval To Cable Law

Cable television came a step closer to South San Francisco Monday night, with preliminary approval by the City Council of an ordinance which would permit and regulate community antenna television (CATV) systems.

Four companies appear interested in serving the area, according to City Attorney John Noonan. June 13 was set for a meeting to allow formal presentations by those firms to the council.

While there are no restrictions on the number of companies which could hold franchises, Noonan said, in practice only one would probably be given use of utility poles over which wires would be strung.

The new ordinance is the result of extensive study by Noonan, who has spent months poring over similar ordinances, comparing differences and analyzing their intricacies.

There are two sections of the South San Francisco ordinance which are unique, he said.

One would allow the council to choose between two methods of charging the franchise holder. The city could charge a flat fee of five per cent of the gross, (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Development Of Tanforan Is Suspended

Industrial development in the Tanforan area within South San Francisco's boundaries will be suspended for 90 days, under a moratorium decreed Monday night by the City Council.

The ban took the form of an ordinance, which temporarily amends the "planned commercial and manufacturing" zone for the Tanforan area.

The interim will be used by the Planning Commission for a study of land uses in the district.

Under the ordinance as it now stands, those uses would include office and professional facilities, and such businesses as research laboratories, personal services, retail stores and outdoor or drive-in businesses including service stations.

Also on the council's agenda this week were a spate of proclamations and resolutions—more than a dozen of them—which included one declaring the fourth week of May, 1966, as Support Your Local Police Week, and another endorsing the selection of an Edgeworth Hills site for a future four-year state college.

Back to the Planning Commission went the question of a sign for the new Dog House restaurant on El Camino Real. It's owners had requested three lines of changeable advertising copy in addition to the basic sign.

The councilmen decided to allow only the word "restaurant," and left final approval up to the planners.

Four variances were granted, to allow homeowners to make additions already approved by planning commissioners.

A price of $9,614 for a street flusher was accepted by the council, after City Manager Eugene Aiello reported that the low bidder, Fred Lautze, with $9,400, had not included transportation of the machine from Illinois as specified by the city.

Councilmen awarded the contract to Arata Pontiac.

Students Walk, Car Pools Run In Strike

3 Districts Invoke Plans In Emergency

Hundreds of North County school children either walked or relied on hastily-formed car pools to get to classes this week.

Their regular means of transportation, Greyhound buses chartered by school districts as school buses, were idled by a strike that shut down Greyhound operations in 11 Western states.

Three school districts met the strike with emergency transportation plans, worked out in the last two weeks when the threat of a strike became known.

Another district, however, remained "optimistic" right up to a strike deadline and was not prepared with a plan.

The districts with emergency procedures handled the bus shortage by a combination of using their own vehicles, shuffling schedules, borrowing neighboring districts' buses and moving up school starting times.

Priority was given to students. (Please See Page 11, Col. 3)

Chief Fabbri To Join In N.Y. Survey

South San Francisco Police Chief John Fabbri will take a six-week leave of absence at the end of the month, to participate in a survey of the New York City Police Department.

Permission for the leave was given Monday night by the City Council, in answer to a request by the chief, who was appointed last winter as a consultant to the Presidential Crime Commission.

The reorganization survey of the New York City department, the largest in the world, will be undertaken by that commission.

The last such survey, Fabbri said, was made 35 years ago. He assured the council that the results of his work will be of benefit to South San Francisco, as well as providing valuable information for himself.

And he has no intention, he added, of looking for a job in New York while he looks over the law enforcement situation.

Mayor Frank Bertucelli congratulated Fabbri, as the council unanimously endorsed his leave of absence.

Mrs. Fassler Is Scored by Foes

A controversial selection of a garbage dump site near Montara has led to the announcement by a Coastside citizens' group that a former Half Moon Bay mayor would run against Supervisor Mrs. Jean Fassler in the June 7 primary election.

John Carter, 66, who was mayor of Half Moon Bay for four years and served on the city council of that city from 1959 to last April, said he would run as a write-in candidate against the embattled Mrs. Fassler for "psychological reasons."

"I know that it's highly doubtful that I can win," commented Carter this week. "I have been asked to run by a number of people. I told them I didn't want to do it, but we want the people of the county to know there is a concerted action against this (the dump site)."

Reason for the move to oust Mrs. Fassler is that she reportedly "broke her promise" to fight against the selection of Green Valley, located near Montara, as a new county dump site.

Theft Probe At Pacifica

Pacifica police inspectors have obtained names and phone numbers of other possible suspects in the 1½-year-long series of Linda Mar area home burglaries which started to break up with the arrest of a 36-year-old steel worker, Angelo C. Flores, last Wednesday night on a charge of receiving stolen property.

The information came from the Flores home at 1267 Escalero Drive, in the Linda Mar area, when Pacifica Inspectors Paul Averett, Ed Sarsfield and Al Tebaldi arrested Flores.

No other arrests have been made, but are expected. Flores is not charged with participation in the burglaries and, police said, probably is not involved in most of the many thefts that remain under investigation.

The arrest of Flores, the inspectors said, appears to have (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Sixty-six members of a 100-member committee that will study school boundaries and de facto segregation were chosen by trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District Monday night. The 66 are evenly divided between men and women.

Mindful of heavy criticism they had received over representation on a previous committee, trustees laboriously spent nearly two hours poring over three lists of names in an attempt to give the new committee a broad base throughout the district.

The trustees are expected to name the remainder of the committee at its next meeting Monday night.

The board deferred selecting more members until a new list of volunteers or suggested persons could be obtained that would represent complete representation in all areas of the district.

The committee is expected to begin its work in June. Its study of school attendance problems and possible de facto segregation is expected to take up to a year.

In addition to choosing committee members, trustees also discussed the first draft of a proposed charge to the committee.

The charge asks the committee to study school attendance boundaries and to recommend changes or a retention of the boundaries as they concern:

- (1) Overpopulation or underpopulation of the district's present four schools.
- (2) Similarity or dissimilarity in ethnic composition of present or proposed district school attendance areas.
- (3) The district's future school needs and plans.

The committee will be authorized to confer with real estate and land developers to gather data and to call public hearings to test community reactions to its proposals.

It will be asked to seek information from city and county governmental agencies about the agencies' plans and future growth patterns and to seek the aid of the County Human Resources Commission and the County Schools Office.

A budget of $8,000 will be authorized to cover clerical salaries.

D. C. Man Is Slain In Kansas

A Daly City man was shot this week in Kansas City, Kan., in a battle with two bus station clerks who said he tried to rob them.

Police identified the man as Walter Joseph Landrith, 52, of 928 Schwerin. He was struck by six bullets.

One of the station clerks, Curtis Graham, 45, of Liberty, Mo., was hit by two bullets—in the back and hand. Hospital attendants said his condition was satisfactory.

Twelve shots were fired. Only a few persons were in the station waiting room.

Graham told police Landrith produced a gun and motioned to Graham and the other clerk, John U. McKinzie, 46, to get behind the counter. Graham said he was told to unlock the cash drawer. The other clerk grabbed the robber's right arm and yelled for help.

Graham snatched a gun from under the counter and exchanged shots with Landrith, who was fighting with McKinzie at the same time.

Westlake Plans Armed Forces Day Services

Westlake Shopping Center will celebrate Armed Forces Day this Saturday with a schedule of special observances on the mall.

An "Avenue of Flags" will be displayed with more than 100 U.S. flags to be mounted in front of mall stores.

The American Red Cross will provide a mobile recording unit for families with servicemen in Viet Nam who wish to tape a message for sending overseas.

The recording equipment will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The service is free.

Co-ordinating the special message service are Charles Derbin, special activities director of the United Crusade, and Larry Zerfel, Red Cross public relations director.

As a further feature, the center hopes to arrange for the appearance of the 30-piece U.S. Army 91st division military band.

N. County Court Post For Hupf?

expressed an interest in being appointed to the board.

Pacelli and Hupf have been close political associates for a decade despite the fact the two men are on opposite sides of the partisan fence. The councilman served as Hupf's campaign manager when Hupf ran for the city council in 1956.

When Hupf left the council to become city attorney in 1957, Pacelli was named to Hupf's council chair.

Both Brown Chiefs
In the South County, the attorney is reported to have the support of Tom Jenkins, the governor's other county co-chairman, and of District Attorney Keith Sorenson.

He also is said to have the backing of Superior Court Judges Frank Blum and Melvin Cohn.

Judge Blum is considered by observers close to the governmental scene to be one of the most politically astute leaders in the county.

Like Hupf, Blum also served as Daly City attorney before his appointment to the Superior Court bench in 1957.

On the state level, Hupf has the backing of Republican Sen. Richard Dolwig of San Mateo County who authored the bill to create a third North County Municipal judgeship.

Ryan Irked?
In the Assembly, however, the picture is not clear. Assemblyman Leo Ryan, a Democrat, was reportedly irked when the courts bill was introduced without his knowledge.

To what extent he will push passage of the bill in the Assembly is unknown and may be dependent, legislative sources point out, upon what favorite measures of his own Ryan may be interested in pushing.

Nonetheless, the assemblyman, it was learned, has informed Hupf that he has no objection to Hupf's appointment to the bench.

Ironically, Hupf almost was named to the Municipal Court bench eight years ago when the then-Judge Thomas Bocci considered stepping down prior to the end of his term.

Bocci reportedly sounded Hupf out on Hupf's interest in the court post and Hupf, after considerable soul-searching, indicated he would be receptive to the idea—even though he would have to run for election a short time after his appointment.

Hupf subsequently received the support of the State Judicial Council and was known to have intendent" have tried to "neutralize" the teachers' association on the unification question.

"The board of trustees and the superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District, in the best interest of the children, should have been addressing themselves seriously to these concerns," Pennings declared.

He added that the trustees and administration should seek aid from state teacher and school administrative associations to "enable the district to chart a remedial course of action to remove all obstacles to quality education in . . . the district."

In his statement on Pennings' charges today, Supt. Greenwood remarked:

"It is very difficult to become excited regarding anything Mr. Pennings might say as he seems to have become a very bitter young man since he was passed over for promotion by both myself and the previous administration.

"This is not the first time that Mr. Pennings has used a public meeting with the press present to vent his anger and frustrations in such an unprofessional manner.

"I am embarrassed both for him and the district. It will suffice to say that I have no intention of dignifying his statement with a direct point-by-point rebuttal but I will invite the press and its representatives to make any inquiries they wish should they feel that such a course is advisable.

"Mr. Pennings' timing, method and purpose were so deliberate and calculated that his motives should be obvious to anyone concerned."

P-TA Plans Unification Newsletter

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District agreed Monday night with Superintendent Frank Greenwood, and authorized a request that the P-TA be asked to prepare pro and con statements regarding unification.

The statements will be sent home with each Jefferson district pupil, to help inform parents on the issues involved.

"There is little information, other than in general terms, of what unification is about," said Greenwood.

The pro-unification statement would be signed by a representative of the Jefferson Union High School District, Greenwood indicated.

The con point of view is to be prepared by the chairman of the County Committee on School District Organization, the majority of whose membership is against unification, according to the superintendent.

In either case, the fee for the initial issuance of the franchise would be $10,000.

Councilmen are also given the option of regulating CATV charges to customers on a yearly basis, or simply setting a fee which could not be changed without their approval.

While the city has no power to set rates as such, Noonan said, the ordinance provides control through a section which provides that a CATV franchise "will not be used in any enterprise which makes excessive charges to the public."

Formal approval of the ordinance is expected at the council's next regular meeting June 6.

Following the June meeting with prospective CATV suppliers, a franchise would be awarded and installation of service to homes would commence.

However, over the past 1½ years there have been a "fantastic number" of such burglaries. Flores is believed to have handled the sale of some of the stolen items, but not all.

Whether or not there is a tie-in between the burglaries known to be cracked at this time—those with which Flores assertedly was a part—and the others still on police books, has not yet been determined.

There were also some questions about what the San Francisco Human Rights Commission has taken action on the matter, inasmuch as the tract is in San Mateo County. He asked Hupf to seek election instead to the court and Hupf, citing a short period in public life (he had been councilman, and then city attorney, only two years) declined.

In addition to his post as Daly City attorney, Hupf also main-

It's Aviation Salute Week at San Bruno

San Bruno residents, most of whom think of San Francisco International Airport only when they hear the roar of jetliners overhead, are getting to know their next-door neighbor a little better this week.

May 15 through May 21 is Aviation Appreciation Week throughout San Mateo County, by proclamation of the Board of Supervisors.

But the idea originated with the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, which has christened San Bruno "The Airport City" and worked to make the event a success.

The Board of Supervisors, in its proclamation, cited "the importance of International Airport, the airlines, and the aviation-oriented industry to the general economy of San Mateo County," and noted of the growth of passenger and cargo traffic, that "its impact upon every facet of the adjacent communities is of vital importance."

Governor Brown has paid tribute to the event, with the observation that "aviation and the airline industries have played key roles in California's development as the greatest state in the nation."

The governor effectively summed up the San Bruno chamber's purpose in originating the week-long observance:

"By sponsoring Aviation Appreciation Week," Brown said, "the people of San Mateo County provide us with an opportunity to salute those industries, to acquaint the public with the great variety of services they offer, to inform the public of plans for the future, and to stress the mutual responsibilities shared by the aviation industries and communities in San Mateo County."

Those ties are especially close between San Bruno and the airport, said Dick King, manager of the San Bruno Chamber, because San Bruno is the closest place for airport people to live, shop and find recreation.

Water Tank For Tract

Daly City bought a water tank last week for $100,000.

The seller was the North Coast Water District, which serves Pacifica and will apply the proceeds toward the larger tank it needs.

serve. Suburban loaned the $100,000 to Daly City for 10 years at four per cent interest. The money will be repaid entirely from water revenues from the Serramonte area itself, according to City Attorney Paul Hupf, and the transaction will cost other taxpayers nothing.

Chamberites Rebuke P.O. About Boxes

The United States Post Office yesterday got its second rebuke this week from a North County organization.

Directors of the Daly City-Corona Chamber of Commerce criticized a post office directive, requiring curbside mail boxes in all new subdivisions.

And to back up the criticism, they voted unanimously to send a resolution to the Postmaster General, protesting the directive.

At Monday night's meeting of the San Bruno Council, members of the council also assailed the directive. It was first set down in 1963 but has been rigidly enforced only for the past six months.

Bernard Lycett, a Daly City councilman as well as a member of the chamber's board of directors, touched off a debate on the mail box issue when he read a letter from the California League of Cities in which the league attacked the curbside mail box order.

The league said the roadside boxes would defeat "the whole purpose" of beautification in new suburban areas.

Chamber Manager Peter Markovich said mail thefts would increase substantially if mail boxes were placed at curbside.

Director Joseph Rohl cited Daly City's 33-foot lot, frontage and 15-foot setback (distance from house to street) as reasons why the directive would be impractical for the city.

The directive would be reasonable if setbacks were considerable, remarked Director David Friedenberg.

Director Fred Martin recalled what he said were a "fantastic" number of mail thefts in the Vallejo area of Pacifica where the curbside mail boxes were installed.

Chamber President Edward Morgan, while declaring he was neutral on the post office ruling, said he knew of a suburban area in Reno where curbside mail boxes blended in well with the general decor of the neighborhood.

In other action, the directors adopted a change in chamber bylaws, providing for annual honorary memberships that would need a two-thirds vote of the chamber.

The change also provides for life memberships. Recipients, unlike the honorary membership holders, would have full voting privileges. Neither type of member would pay dues.

In other business, the directors:

Decided to explore at their next meeting a proposal that would have supervisors elected by districts rather than on a county-wide basis.

Two Held in San Bruno Market Job

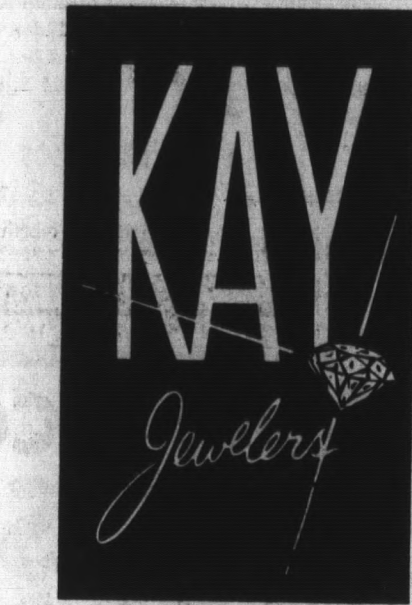

San Bruno police had two suspects in custody Friday, charged with the burglary and vandalism last week at the Grand Leader Market, 598 San Mateo Avenue.

Laurence K. Jackson, 19, and Jimmy L. Salcido, 18, both of San Francisco, were picked up by San Francisco police, then turned over to San Bruno authorities.

Officers said an electric drill was found in the car at the time of their arrest. An identical drill had been taken from the market, along with an electric saw and about $3 in change.

Police investigating the market burglary said the entire place had been strewn with milk, ice cream, potato chips, a watermelon and other items of food. The office had been ransacked and vandalized as well.

Salcido, a bus boy, and Jackson, an unemployed electrician, are also possible suspects in other Peninsula burglaries, police indicated.

Rams Cinch Tie in Baseball, Take Track Championship

Phelps Stops Jefferson For 9th Straight

By JOHN HORGAN

Getting another tremendous individual effort from talented Corky Phelps, Westmoor High School's baseball team clinched at least a tie for the title of the North Peninsula League last Friday with a 4-1 victory over Jefferson in Daily City.

Barring the upset of the semester, the Rams were heavily favored to whip winless Half Moon Bay on the Coastside yesterday for their first NP championship.

Friday's win gave Westmoor a 9-2 mark, compared to 7-3 for Jeff and 7-3 for El Camino. But, the story of the entire league this season has been the sensational performance turned in by Rod Losberger's junior-laden crew (the whole infield is juniors)—and in particular the job done by his senior pitcher, Phelps.

Phelps was almost the whole show as he won his ninth straight NPL game against one loss (he has won every league game this year for the Rams) and batted in the winning runs in the fifth with a line single to left field.

The win for Phelps and Westmoor was their ninth in a row after opening the season with two losses.

The right-handed Phelps struck out five, walked two and allowed five hits as he lowered his earned-run-average to a superb 0.90.

"This win was tremendous for us," exclaimed Losberger after the game. "We came back after Tuesday's big one with El Camino to take this one. The thing about this team (Westmoor) is the way they react to pressure—it just doesn't bother them." And the pressure was on Friday.

Westmoor got on the scoreboard first in the second inning when left fielder Bob Gibbons scored on a bunt single by second baseman Ken Gonzales.

Phelps' single in the fifth which scored Lee Williams and Greg Agar iced the contest.

The Rams added a run in the sixth on a single by Rex Arnett which tallied Gonzales from second.

Jeff got its lone score in the bottom of the sixth on a line single by third baseman Al Namanny and a booming double (the best hit of the game) by barrel-shaped right fielder Bob Blas.

The Indians' pitcher, Ron Mini, a right-handed junior, had his troubles with the smart Rams. He gave up 10 hits in going the distance and all four Ram runs were earned.

The win for the Rams, which was enlivened in the top of the sixth with a near first-flight between the players, could mean the Rams' first NPL title. If they get by the winless Coogars.

But Losberger wasn't making any predictions, he was still savoring the win over Jefferson and the amazing season-long showing by Phelps.

D.C. Players Pace Fresno

Daily City's contributions to the Fresno Giants, California League minor league representatives of the parent San Francisco Giants, are doing their best to make the big club.

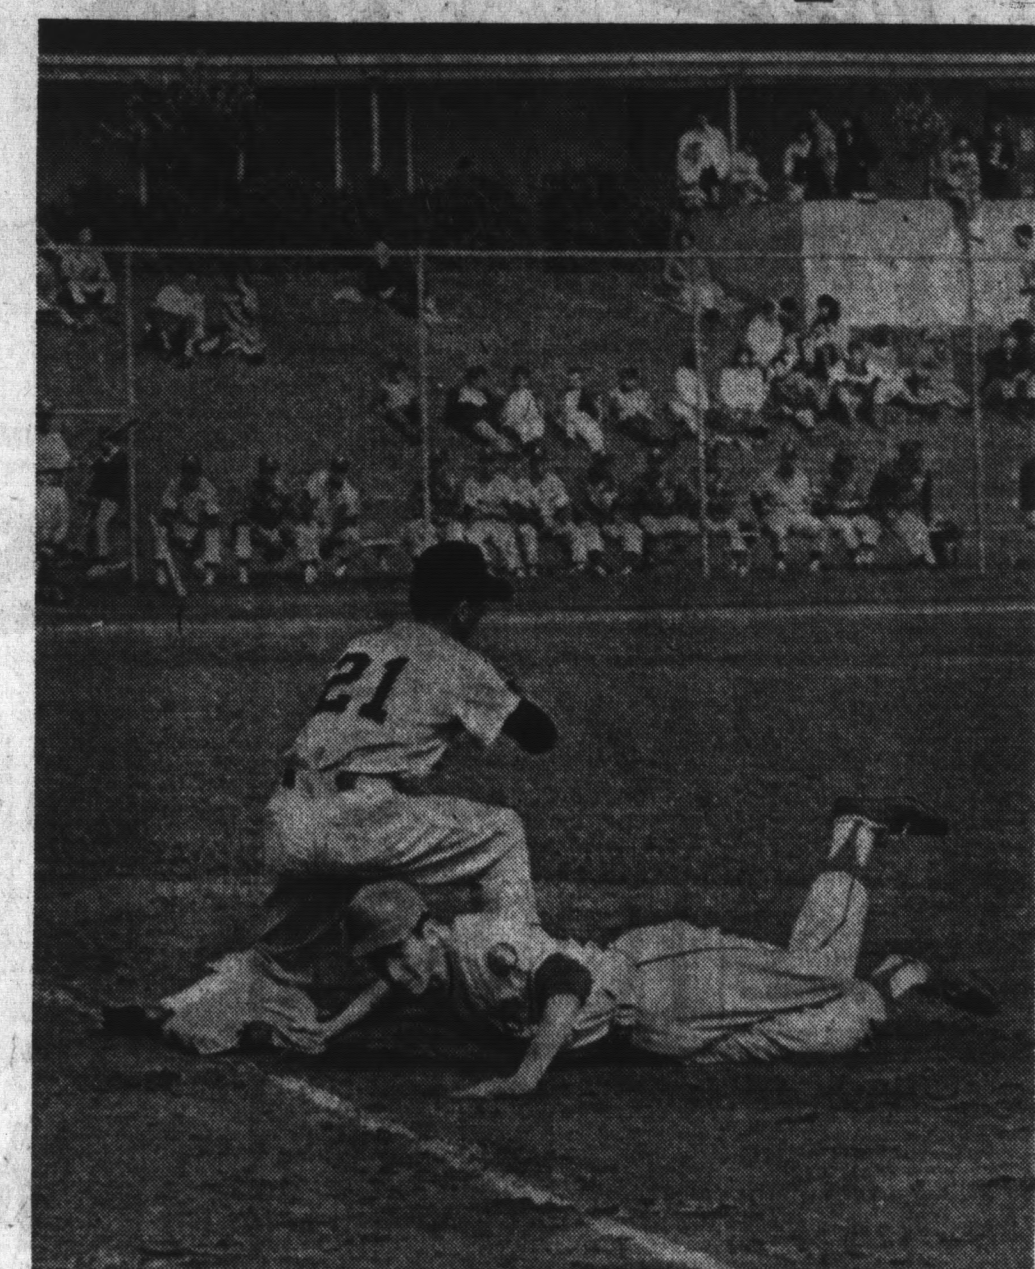

Two weeks ago Bruce Hix, ex-Westmoor standout, clouted a long grand-slam home run to pace the Fresnoans to an 11-4 win over Lodi.

Last week Ray Reitz, the former Jefferson star, rapped another four-master to pace the Giants to another win over Lodi, this one by a 15-4 count.

Al Gallagher, who attended Mission in San Francisco and Santa Clara University, is a third Daily City resident on the club.

Rifle Range Now Open

The Coastside Sportsmen's Club of Linda Mar will open its rifle range daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Help will be available for sighting of rifles.

PETE BERRY of Westmoor slides safely back into first base in an attempted pickoff play. Taking the throw is Jerry Benson, Jefferson first baseman. Action occurred in Westmoor-Jefferson game Friday. Westmoor won, 4-1, to clinch at least a tie for the NPL title. (Post-Times Photo)

The PAL Indians collected two consecutive victories last week as they walked off the OLM Panthers 20-1, then came back to overpower the BVA Darts 11-1.

Leading the Indian attack in the Panther game were Gavin Long and Chuck Colindres as each collected four hits in four trips to the plate.

In the BVA contest, George Parry and Harry Marcus each collected a pair of hits for the winners.

The OLM Bears scored a mild upset as they defeated the Daily City Volkswagon Bogs, 3-2, behind the defensive play of John McVeigh. Chris Welsh led all Bear hitters with two hits.

The OLM Orioles squeaked by the BVA Darts 5-4 behind the clutch hitting of Jose Naranjo who collected two timely hits.

The Bugs bounced back from the loss earlier in the week to defeat the OLM Orioles, 11-0. Again it was the strong left arm of Don Thuermer that paved the way for the Bug team as he held the Orioles to just two hits while collecting a pair himself. Peter Martin collected both of the Orioles hits.

CORKY PHELPS Versatile Ram Athlete

Corky Phelps: 'Ram Franchise'

CORKY PHELPS, Westmoor High School's senior all-purpose athlete, is not overly fast, big or unusually strong. But without him, odds on, the current Ram sports picture would be bleak, indeed.

Truly, Phelps has been "the franchise" this school year for Westmoor.

All-North Peninsula League in two sports thus far, football and basketball, the 6-1, 170-pounder is currently the number one high school pitcher in the North County.

LAST FRIDAY'S victory over Jefferson in a game which should have given the Rams their first-ever NPL baseball title, Phelps won his ninth straight game. He has accounted for all nine of the Westmoor wins in NPL play since the Rams lost their first two encounters earlier in the season.

Not only did he win the game with his arm, but he also drove in the winning runs with his bat in the fifth inning. But this sort of thing has been going on all year for Phelps.

"There is no doubt about it," said his coach, Rod Losberger, last week, "Phelps has really blossomed into an outstanding pitcher."

"But what's really ironic is that his best position is probably catcher. He was an all-league catcher last year along with El Camino's Mike Tyler and led our team in hitting. He is an excellent defensive catcher with a rifle arm."

With all the pitching achievements of the big right-hander, his hitting has slumped this year. He is currently batting below .250 for the Rams in league play. But his pitching leaves little to be desired.

IN 62 innings of league action he has allowed less than one run per game, given up 51 hits and 27 walks and struck out 62.

Losberger commented that what is really fantastic is "the way he seems to get stronger with each game."

Five Marks Tumble In NPL Finals

The Westmoor High School track team added the finishing chapter to its sterling epic of 1966 Peninsula track and field supremacy last Friday.

Coach Bob Lotti's Ram cinders, to the surprise of nobody, brought the 1966 North Peninsula League track title to the Westmoor campus as they centered home an easy winner in the NPL Finals at windy and cold Oceana High School.

The Rams piled up 94½ points, compared to distant second place South S.F.'s 48 points.

"This is without a doubt the best team I have ever coached," he stated after the victory. "They were unselfish, full of spirit and gave forth with a tremendous team effort." He further added between smiles. It was our depth and spirit."

The Westmoor team went through the 1966 dual meet season undefeated and boasted wins over Catholic Athletic League champion Serra, South Peninsula Athletic League champion Carlmont, and Mid-Peninsula League champion Burlingame.

Lotti thought that the turning point which really inspired his team on to the smashing victory was Burce Herald's upset of South S.F.'s Gary John in the 440. Herald, who broke from lane six, went to the front right away and scored a wire-to-wire victory in 51 seconds flat.

Five weather-beaten NPL standards fell by the wayside in the meet. Herald's upset in the 440 was a new mark, as was teammate Milo Torres' 10:02.4 clocking in the two-mile run.

South S.F.'s fine sophomore sprinter Russ Cottrell also rewrote the record books in the 100-yard dash as he traversed the century in 10.1. Cottrell made it a double for the day by winning the 220 with a 23 second flat clocking.

Jefferson's Jasper Brown etched his name into the history book as he shattered the 180-yard low hurdle mark with a 19.8 effort.

In the field events, Westmoor pole-vaulter Jimmy Johnson cleared the bar at 13-1½ for a new NPL standard.

Terra Nova tied for the class B championship by taking a narrow 61-60 decision over the Ram lights. The Westmoor B's had gone undefeated during the dual meet season.

Leading Terra Nova's upset were Steve Wilson and Bob Keeler. Ray Untalan was a double winner for the Jefferson class B thincads, annexing both the discus and shotput. South S.F.'s Tony Anninos also captured two events, winning the 70-yard high hurdles and the 220.

NPL Closes Out Season

The official end of the North Peninsula League sports season occurs during the next seven days.

The baseball season closes with three games Friday: South San Francisco at El Camino, Jefferson at Oceana and Terra Nova at Half Moon Bay; all three games begin at 3 p.m.

Brian Wishes S.S.F. Could Start Fresh

South San Francisco High School baseball coach Bob Brian is wishing that the North Peninsula League baseball race was just starting.

His late arriving Warriors won their third game in a row Friday blasting Oceana, 16-0, at Orange Park in South San Francisco.

"Our boys are really playing great ball and hustling all of the way," Brian stated. "I am really sorry that the season isn't just starting or at least the second round just getting under way," Brian added.

The victory over Oceana gave the Warriors a 6-5 NPL mark and put them within a game of second place El Camino and Jefferson.

First baseman Jim Henry and pitcher Luther Gregory had big days for the Warriors. Henry was up five times, collected five hits, scored five runs, knocked in three runs and stole two bases—including home plate.

Gregory only pitched to 23 batters and set the Sharks down on two hits en route to the victory. He used only 84 pitches and accounted for nine strikeouts in his seven-inning stint.

The Warriors' big inning came in the second where they crossed the plate six times. Featured in the rally, which gave Brian's crew a 9-0 lead going into the top of the third, were singles by Gregory, Henry, Vince Olson, John Dougherty, and Sandy Beall and a double by Tom Olmo.

Another top individual fete was turned in by outfielder Joe Madeiros who broke the S.S.F. school record for most chances handled in the outfield without an error. Madeiros has now recorded 20 straight chances without a miscue.

The Warriors close out their 1966 campaign Friday against El Camino.

NORTH COUNTY EDITION

north county COMMENT

'Thank-You' For Leaders Earned

Two incumbent San Mateo County Supervisors will be unopposed in their bids for return to office at the forthcoming June 7 election.

Supervisor T. Louis Chess, who has proved tireless in his application to his duties, will be re-elected to his Third District post on the board.

Supervisor Mrs. Jean Fassler, who was appointed by the governor late in 1964—after the late Joseph Verducci died before he could take over the office—will be uncontested for her Fifth District post. Mrs. Fassler will be elected to a two-year term representing the balance of the term to which Verducci had been elected.

Both unchallenged supervisors, besides outstanding performance on the board, have a roster of additional jobs and activities that have brought them regional, state and national recognition. It may very well be that this is the reason they are unchallenged—few persons would care to take on the work load that they cheerfully carry.

Chess, in addition to his board duties, is president of the Association of Bay Area Governments, chairman of the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board, active in the State Supervisors' Association, the Bay Area Council, the Community Council, the Peninsula Highway Design Committee, the Technical and Advisory Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce, the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, the Youth Conservation Program, and the United Bay Area Crusade. On top of all this, Supervisor Chess finds time to assist in many other local civic and philanthropic programs.

This month Supervisor Fassler was chosen by President Johnson to be one of a 12-member national citizens' committee to chart the nation's course in recreational areas. Besides being vice chairman of the San Mateo County Board, she also serves on the Association of Bay Area Governments, the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, the Regional Planning Committee, the Local Agency Formation Commission, the Fair and Fiesta Board, and the Mental Health Advisory Board. In her own area she is always a dependable leader and worker in civic and improvement programs.

There certainly is no doubt about these two incumbents giving their fellow citizens more than a full measure of service.

They will be automatically elected, but The Times recommends that its readers extend to T. Louis Chess and Mrs. Jean Fassler the complimentary vote that they have earned working in the public behalf.

Young Set's Film Plans

Barbara Bladen

EVERYONE and his brother wants to make a movie. It's become a national pastime. And an expensive one. Artistry is something else again.

But those who have got the camera bug are willing to overlook cost, time, and technical know-how in order to record, experiment and create by way of shutter and celluloid.

That's all right for the hobbyist, but in recent years films have become a prime medium of communication. Junior Academy is an organization newly formed to encourage, facilitate, and instruct young adults in making films.

The year-round program has been set in motion here on the Peninsula. In coming years it will extend to counties throughout the state. Eventually it will be developed on a national scale.

The field of communications is one of the few contemporary professions to which teen-agers have been denied entry. Science, electronics and allied industries have been apprentice programs and schools have instituted classes in which pre-college students may acquire early foundations in future enterprises. Films, radio and television have just recently been introduced into college curriculums. Junior Academy will open the door to creativity on a year-round, subsidized, unrestricted basis.

Conceived eight years ago by Elfrido J. Salazar of San Mateo, who was working for a major Hollywood studio, the idea won immediate approval from parents, educators, and people in the film industry. That approval has since blossomed into active participation from such quarters as radio, television, movie companies, national industries, local businesses, and educators in secondary schools.

When will it begin? Plans are being made with the School of Creative Art at San Francisco State College which embraces cinematography, radio, and television for the development of an immediate workshop for this summer. It will include young adults of high school age from both San Mateo and San Francisco Counties.

Members of the Board of Governors are currently working with the teachers of State College and College of San Mateo to formulate a kick-off program and year-round schedule of production. Junior Academy officials are particularly interested in co-ordinating the inter-relationship between the four-year college, the junior college, and the high school. This will enable all levels of educational institutions to work together on the master plan.

Each community on the Peninsula will have a unit. Members will choose their field of interest: Directing, script writing, cameraman, acting, editing, and all areas of technical and artistic endeavor necessary for the completion of a movie.

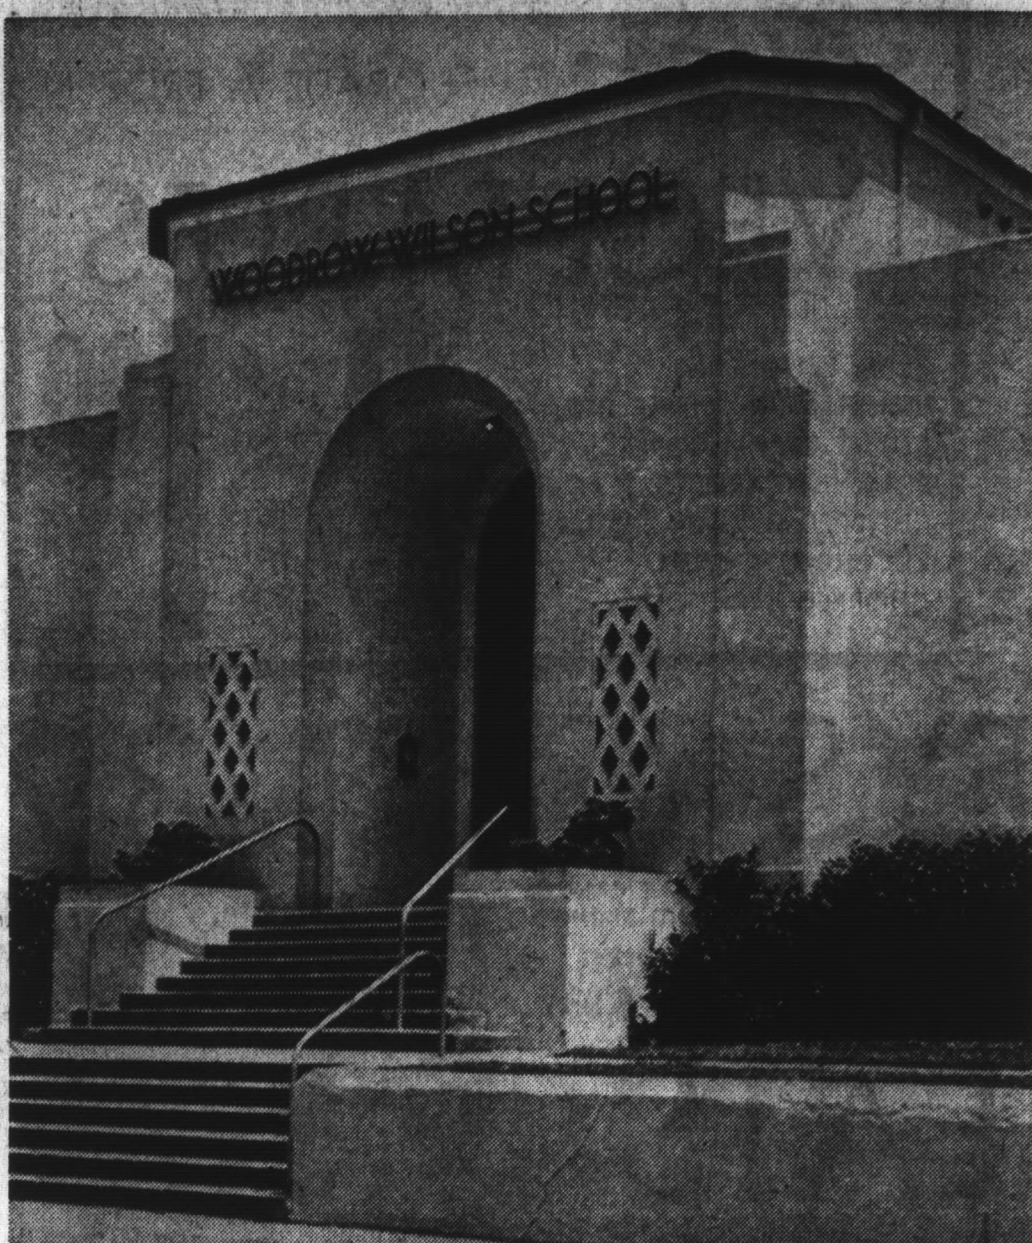

All this work will be supervised by professionals or qualified graduate students from the film departments of both colleges. Youngsters will be expected to attend lectures, seminars, workshops, field trips to location sites, tours of studio at least once a week with an increase of participation as the movie making enters its final stages.

Every event will be a work session, supervised and co-ordinated with a production schedule.

JUNIOR ACADEMY is a non-profit, educational club, similar in structure to Junior Achievement. There will be a nominal registration fee. The big money, the operating budget and cost of film will come from federal, state, and private foundation grants.

The completed films will be premiered at local movie houses. In time it is expected there will be a Junior Academy film festival. The films will be available to fraternal, civic, and church groups and the youngsters' accomplishments will be shown at their local high schools.

Woodrow Wilson School

WOODROW WILSON SCHOOL, one of the first schools in the Jefferson Elementary School District, was built in 1935 at 43 Miriam Street, Daly City. Four classrooms were added in 1951 and a multi-use room was added in 1953. The school now has 15 classrooms. It has had three principals—Mrs. Alice Bryan, Mrs. Ethel Hahn and Peter Hanson who now heads the school's administrative staff. Enrollment this year totals 441 students. (Post-Times Photo)

Better Business

'Seniors' Urged To Retain Insurance

Lorene Beasley

Better Business Bureau has had a number of inquiries from senior citizens regarding the purchase of insurance since the passage of the Medicare bill. Private insurance should not be cancelled.

The basic plan of Medicare, which covers hospitalization, nursing home care, outpatient diagnosis and health services in the home does not start until July 1, 1966. Nursing home coverage does not come into effect until January 1, 1967.

Health insurance can be purchased for a period of time ranging from one year, a quarter or, even a month. Reputable insurance companies have revised their health policies and charges to provide coverage above and beyond the Medicare plan to avoid duplicate insurance payments.

Under the present Medicare setup certain expenses such as private nurses, private rooms in hospitals, cost of drugs prescribed for home use and dental care costs are not included.

Medicare pays hospital room bills up to 60 days for an illness, with $40 deductible paid by the patient. After the 60 day period and up to 90 days, a patient must pay $10 a day for his hospital room.

Some of the private health insurance companies have stopped selling health insurance to individuals over 65 and are rewriting basic policies to terminate health benefits when the policyholder reaches the age of 65. California Physicians' Service announced a new health insurance program available to Californians "65" and over enrolled in the Social Security Medicare program.

This insurance program will pay benefits for the many expenses left uncovered by Medicare.

The plan, known as "Medigap" goes into operation July 1, 1966, and will cost an individual $6.80 a month. No health statement or physical examination are required. The "Medigap" plan covers the first $40 deductible amount and $10 a day for an extended hospital stay. Doctor bills are covered by Medicare. The patient, however, must pay 20 per cent of the total bill each year.

It is hoped that lower premium rates for group policies will be possible when commercial companies do not have to bear the higher costs of benefits to the elderly. Blue Cross estimate that it loses $175 to $220 million a year by providing benefits for 5.5 million oldersters who constitute 10 per cent of its customers.

To Help the senior citizens, Better Business Bureau advises:

(1) Buy sickness and accident insurance policies from companies licensed to do business in California. Because of the lack of jurisdiction over out-of-state companies little or no information as to financial strength or reliability for paying claims can be ascertained.

(2) Be wary of an agent who urges that an existing policy be dropped to purchase a policy from a new company. It is often to the advantage of the purchaser to contact his original insurance company to see if any increase or decrease in coverage can be made from the old policy.

(3) Buy insurance from established and reputable agents. (4) Give a complete health history.

It is important to determine whether or not coverage is provided under the policies for pre-existing conditions. (Pre-existing conditions is a disease or a condition which shows itself before the effective date of the policy or a date specified in a policy.)

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Cub Scout Pack 256 thanks you for the fine coverage you gave our carnival March 25.

We (also) thank everyone who helped to make it such a great success. A good time was had by all.

Kenneth D. Ingham
Committee Chairman

TO THE EDITOR:

Friends of the Daly City Library extends its thanks for the fine publicity which your newspaper gave our recent Book Fair. Our success in this venture was made possible through your co-operation.

May we also use this means to thank the people of Daly City for their generous contributions of books and recordings to the Book Fair.

Edyth (Mrs. S. J.) Simon,
Corresponding Secretary.

TO THE EDITOR:

The Church of the Visitation Mothers' Club sincerely thanks you for the excellent news coverage which you have so generously given us during the past year.

Your kindness in making our publicity available to the public contributed much in helping us bring all our activities to a very successful conclusion.

130 attended our picnic—the largest crowd ever; 280 came to our first parish dinner-dance, at least 300 patronized our silent auction, our silent auction, our fashion show played to a full house, our Easter bonnet sale was a huge success, our rummage sale was our best to date, and at this year's cake sale it was the first time in our history that the customers outnumbered the cakes.

Our membership, too, has steadily grown. No doubt about it, your printing of our publicity helped our club advance at a tremendous pace! And it does appear, that when the clubs organized for the welfare of the community improves and advances—the community at large improves.

We are sincerely grateful.

Ann Kovalek,
Publicity chairman.

TO THE EDITOR:

The Board of Deacons of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church wishes to express its thanks to The Post for your publication of news releases from Community Interaction Through You (CITY) of Daly City.

This organization, dedicated to the furthering of better relationships and understanding between the various neighborhoods of our area, deserves all the help and encouragement we can give it.

Also, yours was the only local paper to give coverage of the Ad Hoc Committee's protest against Standard Building Company's color-bias at Serra Monte.

Your impartial reporting is in the best traditions of journalism.

Mrs. R. Cuniberti,
Church and society chairman.

TO THE EDITOR:

As publicity-promotion chairman for the Holy Infant Jesus Order, I certainly want to express my thanks and the Sisters for all of the fine publicity given to them by your papers. The Mother General Justin who recently arrived from Paris, France to visit the convents in California was delighted with the picture of her published by the Post and The Times.

The festival which was held at Holy Angels School May 7, was a huge success. Our thanks for the publicity given by you for the affair.

Mrs. Frank Murphy,
Holy Infant Jesus Sisters,
Holy Angels Convent.

Brisbane Has Had It With Garbage

Don Miller

THE CITY OF BRISBANE, long accustomed to its sheltered, unobtrusive existence in that little niche on the north side of San Bruno Mountain, has become quite a talked-about town these past few months.

That's because of garbage—an awful lot of garbage—and what a scavenger company would like to do with it.

The publicity has centered around Brisbane's revocation of a permit given to the company to dump garbage onto Brisbane's tidal front steps on the east side of the Bayshore Freeway.

The revocation came on the heels of a referendum in which the people of Brisbane voted for an ordinance, outlawing further dumping in their city. Brisbane's citizenry had, to say the least, had it with garbage.

Since then, the courts have upheld the right of the people to hold a referendum to prohibit garbage and with that action, Brisbane will settle back out of the limelight and all the publicity of late will cease.

HOWEVER, there's a corollary to this garbage business that has been overshadowed by the big fight down by the Bay. And the campaign by Brisbane officials and the city's police department against garbage dumping by the city's OWN residents within city limits.

For years, it appears, residents pretty much went their own way in disposing of refuse. After all, there wasn't any police force and there were those long stretches of Bayshore Boulevard and winding little roads into the brush that invited the discard of trash.

Many people, therefore got used to dumping refuse here and there. And because they were used to it, they thought it was slightly short of an outrage that, after the city's incorporation four years ago, a man in blue should be able to give them a summons for illegal disposal of garbage.

And yet, that's what's been happening over the past four years and the summons keep right on going, according to Brisbane Patrolman Bob Wilberg, who has handed out a good many of them himself.

Wilberg likens the battle against the litterbug to the war in Viet Nam—the struggle, he says, doesn't seem to have any end. And yet, as most Brisbane folks will agree, the city is beginning to show the results of the anti-litter campaign.

Perhaps this is because of one type of enforcement Brisbane police have come up with that has a shattering effect on violators. An officer simply calls a trash culprit and orders him to retrieve his garbage.

Refuse often can be traced by identification on letters, bills or other papers that have been thrown away with the garbage.

ONE OF WILBERG's favorite stories concerns the day he traced some illegally discarded garbage to a well-to-do matron. He called her at her home and inquired if she was dumping refuse off Harney Road, the access road to Candlestick Park from the Bayshore Freeway.

"Oh, yes," she cheerily replied, "I've been dumping out there for three years."

Just as cheerily, Wilberg said she was in violation of the law and, ordered her to drive right out with a shovel and pick the stuff up.

So a little while later, the matron pulled up at the scene of the crime as Wilberg waited. She was driving a new Pontiac and she hopped out, shovel in hand.

As it was, it happened to be opening day at Candlestick and Harney Road was jammed with ballgame-bound fans. After a few shovelfuls and after noting that her shoveling was being witnessed by grinning fans in an endless rolling grandstand, the red-faced woman exclaimed:

"Officer, this is more embarrassing to me than anything I can imagine. Do you have to stand right there? Will you please move away?"

But Wilberg stood his ground. And the matron finished shoveling the refuse into the trunk of the shiny car and with face flushed, shot Wilberg a withering glance and drove off.

And that, we think, is the way to get at these litterbugs.

NOT SO APPARENT is a way to calm down gabby people who complain about the neighbor's dog barking. But dispatcher Helen Schaefer of the San Bruno Police Department has one way of keeping her temper and her sanity when this does happen.

The other morning, she answered the phone and a woman started complaining... and complaining... and complaining about a dog next door that liked the idea of barking about 4 a.m.

"But ma'am, if you'll..." Helen tried to interject about a half dozen times. Then she gave up and with the phone cradled on one shoulder, she went back to work, voicing a "yes" or "I see" every now and then as she rifled through reports on her desk.

We don't know how long the conversation lasted but we do know Helen finished the reports.

AND FINALLY on the police beat this morning, we have the case of a South San Francisco boating enthusiast who had just moored his new, 28-foot sailboat at the Oyster Point Marina when he got a call the other day from the harbor master, telling him his boat was sinking.

As he drove quickly to the marina, near-panic etched on his face, he kept hoping that it was all a hoax—that this was the way he was being inducted into the yacht club and that when he arrived at the dock, all the members of the club would be there with big smiles and the boat would be okay.

Only when he arrived, there weren't any club members and nobody was smiling. And there was his new $7,000 sailboat, under water.

Seems he had tied one of the mooring lines to a tire around a piling and the tire, when the tide rose, had snagged on a barnacle or some other obstruction and had held the boat down.

This has been the case before at Oyster Point, Larry Ross of the South San Francisco police department points out. His advice: Don't moor your boat to a tire. They just often have a way of not going the same way the tide does.

California Future Challenging One

Samuel Chandler

ONE DAY a census taker smiled at reporter William Graves—"California," he said, "is in a state of perpetual explosion."

Among other things California receives 1,000 new residents every day. Four hundred thousand settlers cross its borders each year. At the moment its population is 19 million people—one out of every 10 Americans.

California has more national parks, national forests and military bases than any other state. "It has more teachers, students, automobiles, superhighways and motorcycles—not to mention more major league baseball teams (three) than any other part of the union."

"California manufacturers in recent years have obtained almost a quarter of all prime contracts for military equipment; nearly half the money allocated for civilian space research and development is spent in California. In addition, California provides a vast portion of the country's food and 80 per cent of all the wine consumed in the United States."

Graves' description of California's perpetual explosion may be found in a delightful article in the May issue of the National Geographic Magazine. The article entitled "California—The Golden Magnet," is divided into two parts: "The South" and "Nature's North."

IN THE LATTER, Graves observes that California's wealth lies not only in its resources but in the sheer majesty of the land itself. With sweeping photographs by Jonathan and James P. Blair, he proves his point. One shot shows Los Angeles—"like a bolt of starry fabric unrolled from mountains to sea—sprawling in grandeur." Another is a picture of San Francisco at night. "Market Street pierces downtown San Francisco like an arrow, its flaming tip the Ferry Building Tower."

One breath-taking shot is a double page picture of California's mountains that "bound from the misty sea to form the rock ribs of a mighty state." A night time picture shows cracks of lightning streaming through a black sky towards California's floodlit capital dome in Sacramento.

While the pictures make the article more delightful than even what Mr. Graves says should be required reading for California people, it is a travelogue mixed with quotations and wise observations.

THE SECTION following Mr. Graves' article was written to accompany a National Geographic Map of California, the first in a new United States Atlas series. On this map the counties are outlined with a color code of red and yellow. Highways and freeways, state parks, ski resorts, redwood groves and even notable individual trees are noted. Insets show major cities and parks.

"For all its dramatic past," writes Graves in part two of his article, "California remains a land of endless challenge." In a recent speech near San Francisco, President Lyndon B. Johnson declared, "Those who believe the frontiers of America are closed should be out here today... the era of pioneering is not over—only the era of pioneering has changed."

S.S.F. Police Order Teens To Disperse

South San Francisco police dispersed a crowd of about 100 teen-agers, some of them shouting, "Viet Nam, Viet Nam," in Orange Park shortly after 3 p.m. last Wednesday.

Police had sped to the scene after receiving a report that the teen-agers were fighting. However, after arriving at the park, they found nobody fighting. Most of the youths were 16 to 18 years old.

Police said there were some older youths in the crowd with long hair that fell to their shoulders.

Investigators were unable to determine how the gathering started. The crowd dispersed without incident.

LOCK PRIED OFF
Officials of Duke's Market at 897 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno, reported to police last week that a lock had been pried off a door. Police said that apparently nobody had entered the building.

JUHS Votes Support Of County Move

Trustees of the Jefferson High School District have voted to support a move by the county board of education to help establish area-wide continuation schools.

Edward Morgan, superintendent of the Jefferson district, told trustees that the district could use the coming year "to put together a very fine program."

He reported that an Assembly bill, amended in the Senate, would allow school districts to operate continuation schools as part of their adult education programs.

The schools could be operated either during the day or evening but only for one year, he said.

WRENCH STOLEN
Officials of the California Trucking Service at 196 South Freeway Street, South San Francisco, reported to police over the weekend that a pneumatic wrench had been stolen from a company truck.

Suspicion Of Theft Charged

San Bruno police last Wednesday arrested a Redwood City man on suspicion of burglary when he was found, with a tire iron in his hand, standing next to the smashed window of a beauty parlor.

The suspect is Melvin R. Tausig, 34, of 613 Oakridge Drive. He told Patrolman James Hall that he broke the window in Maria's Beauty Nook at 2004 Rollingwood Drive, San Bruno, to see his girl friend, who, he said, owns the parlor.

Board Told Blast Peril Was Identical

An investigation into an underwriter's report that a "disastrous furnace explosion" nearly occurred at Westmoor High School in 1961 has determined that the blast, if it had occurred, would have been similar to a firebox boiler explosion that did occur at Westmoor April 4 of this year.

Trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District had asked for the investigation after Russell B. Baker, claims adjuster for the Pacific Indemnity Group, had written in his report on the April 4 incident:

"Previous malfunctioning of a gas valve (in 1961) very nearly resulted in a disastrous furnace explosion but was detected before ignition occurred."

After this malfunctioning, Baker reported, a number of valves were replaced.

After the April 4 explosion this year, trustees ordered double safety devices installed on the district's 11 school boilers.

A report on the investigation was given trustees by Fred O. Goodell, assistant superintendent.

After further discussion on boiler difficulties and previous reports to the board, Trustee James Cooper remarked:

"This only emphasizes a need for a truly professional engineering firm to look at the boilers periodically and thoroughly review safety procedures."

At a previous meeting of the board, an electrical contractor told trustees that often three different specialists are needed to check a boiler system.

No Quorum For Planning Commission

Only two Daly City Planning Commissioners were present for their regularly scheduled meeting last week—one short of the three members needed to constitute a quorum.

McRobert Stewart and Leonard Brown were on hand, as were Planner Ed Lawson, City Engineer Arthur Reschke, other officials and citizens with an interest in the several items on the agenda.

Among those items, which will now be placed on the agenda for the commission's next meeting May 24, were consideration of two new types of zoning: Office-commercial, and Design-Review districting.

The proposed zones, long under study by Lawson, would be added to the city's catalogue of types of zoning for greater flexibility.

The design-review zoning would be applied to existing types of zoning to allow city officials to control architecture and design in areas of particular civic significance, such as the neighborhood of the new civic center.

Also postponed until next week was further discussion of a proposed planned development zone for land immediately north of Mary's Help Hospital — the first use of that zoning ever requested in Daly City.

County Cities Angry With S.F. After Meeting

By GEORGE GOLDING

Smoldering fires of Peninsula anger have been fanned into flaming outbursts by a meeting held at San Francisco International Airport with the obvious intent of lessening conflicts between San Francisco and San Mateo County.

The anger arises from some of the things left out of that meeting, and from some of the lacks revealed in it.

"They treat us like distant cousins," one Peninsula politician said afterward. "and then expect us to co-operate." He was referring to the fact that neither Millbrae nor San Bruno was asked to send representatives to the meeting, although it was concerned with problems closely related to those cities.

"There seems to be a lack of communication somewhere in the San Francisco lineup," commented Millbrae City Manager Homer Chandler after learning that San Francisco's Public Utilities Manager James Carr has asked Airport Manager George Hanson whether Millbrae had recently commented on the possibility of a new entrance to the city from Bayshore freeway at the Airport entrance overpass.

"They know we want a new entrance. They've been told time and again," Chandler said.

He noted that the idea of a new Bayshore link into Millbrae had been on the campaign platforms of every candidate for election at the City Council in April. "That's how recent it was," he added.

"Co-operation is a two-way street," said San Bruno City Manager Gerald Vergeer.

"They called a meeting Thursday afternoon to talk about co-operating with San Bruno and South San Francisco by having our sewage disposal plant handle their sanitary sewage, yet they don't want to talk about that 100 acres between the railroad and the Bayshore that we want to annex to our flood control district."

"They say they have no plans for developing it, and they don't want us to."

"The trouble is, they never let us talk to the people, who make the policy decisions."

In addition, there was some resistance to the idea of San Francisco dealing with San Mateo County through the second-level-down on its administrative staff, instead of man-to-man on the top level of elected officials.

James Carr, who headed the airport session is a city staff employee appointed by Mayor John Shelley and the San Francisco Supervisors.

The remainder of San Francisco's representatives were water, airport, and engineering department heads under Carr.

On San Mateo's side of the table, were all five elected Supervisors, plus County Manager Robert Stallings.

With Carr leading the discussion, topics ranged from airport expansion to future plans for San Francisco's huge water department properties in San Mateo County.

Carr noted that San Francisco is the largest property owner in this county, and suggested that co-operation would be to a mutual benefit.

Discussion also touched on several items, particularly related to Millbrae, San Bruno, and South San Francisco.

Location or re-location of Bayshore freeway, the possibility of a new Bayshore access to Millbrae at the main airport entrance overpass, inclusion of some airport land into a flood control district San Bruno is forming, the possibility of a new sanitary sewage arrangement between the airport and South San Francisco, the possibility of developing west-of-Bayshore airport lands for industrial sites, and the very real possibility of the airport wanting to haul soil through neighboring cities to fill in shorelands for expansion.

San Bruno Manager Vergeer particularly attacked the airport's reluctance to even talk with the cities about developing the west-of-Bayshore property.

He noted that the airport bond issue has been talked about as possibly financing movement of two miles of Bayshore Freeway westward, or of opening up the west-of-Bayshore property with tunnels under Bayshore.

"But they admit they do not have plans for developing this 100 acres nearest us for maybe 20 years."

Both he and Chandler pointed out that it would be simpler to open up the west-of-Bayshore property from a simple extension of the airport entrance overpass.

Such an extension could easily be tied into a new Millbrae approach road growing from the entrance overpass, they said.

"The airport people talk about developing this land for airport-related uses," Vergeer said, "but they have allowed an American Airlines food processing facility to move down into Millbrae because San Bruno has no industrial sites to develop, and the airport's property sits there right across our fence."

"They don't even want it in our flood control district."

Bus Strike Hits Pupils, Commuters

dents who would have to cross busy highways if they walked, to younger students and to those living long distances from school.

The Jefferson High School District, invoking a detailed emergency schedule approved by the board of trustees a week before the strike began, moved up school starting times at three schools.

Only Westmoor High School's opening bell was left unchanged. Students at Jefferson High School reported at 7:40 a.m., Oceana started at 8 and Terra Nova began at 7:30.

All students living less than three miles walking distance from their schools were asked to walk. All bus transportation to Westmoor was cancelled.

The students were informed of the emergency schedule in a bulletin distributed last week.

The district charters 15 Greyhound buses and uses 11 of its own to transport students.

Fred Goodell, assistant superintendent, said "no problems" and "no unusual lateness" had been encountered Monday, the first day the emergency plan went into effect.

Moving up school starting times enabled the district to lend its own buses to the Jefferson Elementary School District, which also had prepared an emergency plan.

Although many students were asked to walk, bus schedules for at least two schools were maintained almost in their entirety through the use of the high school district's vehicles.

Ed Jose, director of building and grounds for the elementary district, said a notice on the emergency bus plan had been distributed to students Friday.

The district ordinarily charters 20 Greyhound buses to transport students.

In the Laguna Salada School District, the district's own two buses were placed on double-duty to substitute for five Greyhound buses.

Wilma Porter, manager of auxiliary services, said an emergency bus plan had been prepared last week and all schools had been notified.

She added that all student field trips had been cancelled for the duration of the strike but that otherwise, there had been no interruption in the district's educational program.

In the San Bruno Park School District, car pools were hastily formed Monday and the district shuttled its own three buses back and forth to transport an estimated 1,250 students.

A spokesman for the district said that a plan had not been prepared beforehand. "We were too optimistic."

The district charters six Greyhound buses.

The spokesman said that transportation priority was being given to kindergarten through third grade children.

Two other North County school districts were not affected by the strike.

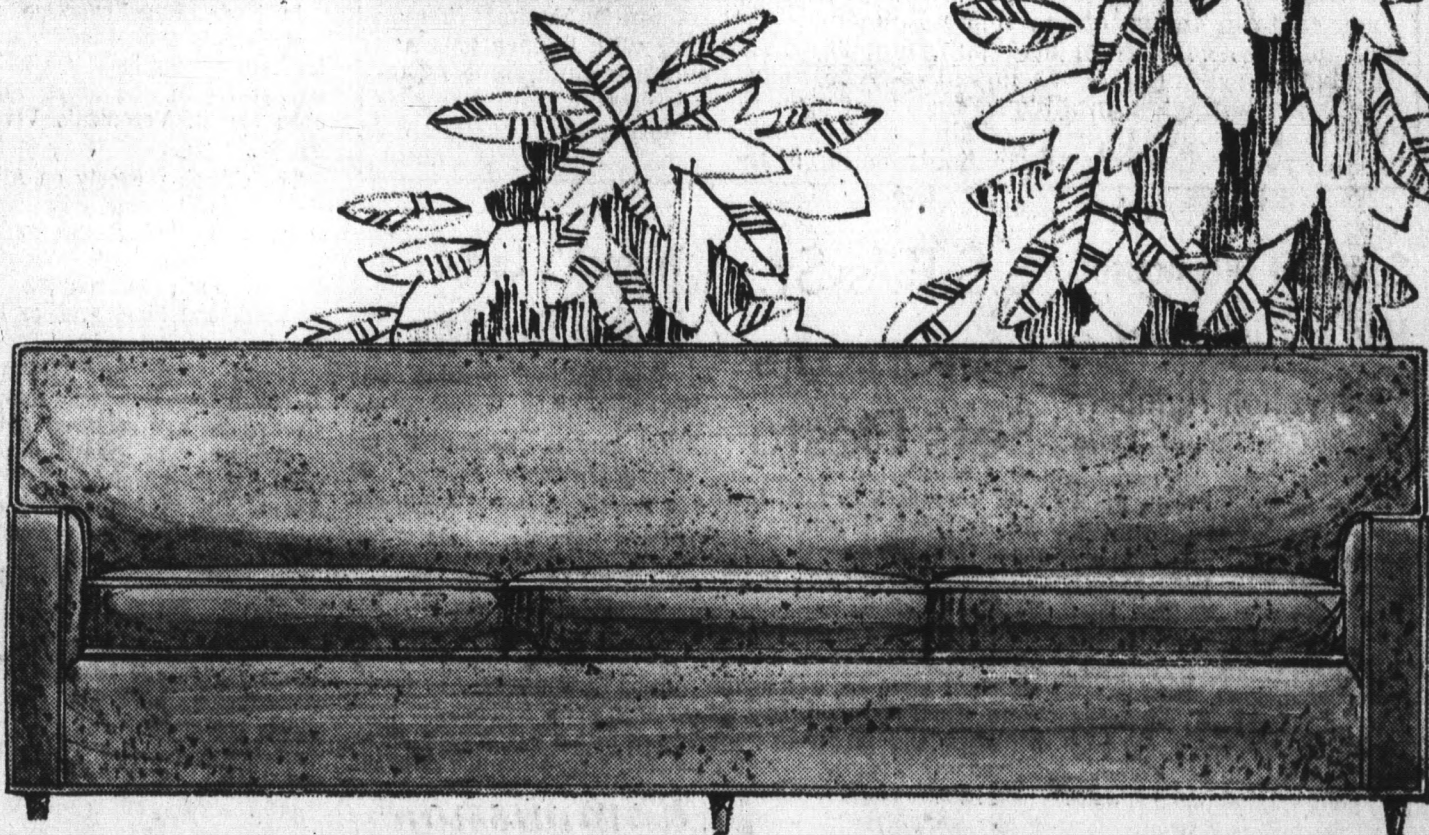

The South San Francisco Unified School District transports some 2,700 students in a fleet of nine, district-owned buses.

The Bayshore School District contracts with a carrier to transport a small number of students. The rest of the pupils live close enough to schools to walk.

Mental Health Month Spurs Award To John Swanson for Use of Bowl

May being Mental Health Month seemed an appropriate time for patients and staff of the North County Mental Health Center and the San Francisco Day-Treatment Center, to thank benefactor John Swanson of Swanson's Westlake Bowl, 99 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, for the free use of his bowling establishment by the patients of the two centers.

A plaque for Swanson and his Westlake Bowl was presented by Dick Freeman, supervisor of Rehabilitation S.F. Day Center and Dr. Paul Freeman, psychiatrist-director of the SF Center to Frank Pacelli, Daly City councilman, who accepted in the absence of Swanson.

Dr. Freeman said, "It is particularly gratifying to have business establishments demonstrate their acceptance of the problems of mental illness by offering their services to those persons in treatment. Such acceptance does much to support and strengthen the patient's feelings of self-worth and of belonging to society."

"We gratefully recognize the service provided by Mr. Swanson and the Westlake Bowl and it is our hope to be able to continue this co-operative endeavor."

John Dohney, psychiatric social worker of the North County Mental Health Center presented a bowling trophy with deep and sincere thanks and appreciation for what he terms "a most essential outlet for the patient."

The North County Center has been using the bowling lanes for a year with the opening of the center, with patients bowling twice a week. The S.F. Center has used the lanes for almost four years going once a week.

They will give a concert of sacred music at both the 9 and 11 a.m. worship services. Singing has become a major family project in their home where Pastor and Mrs. Karlstad and their five children have appropriated one evening a week for "family night" at which time they often become involved in diligent rehearsal and drill.

The two eldest children, Janice and Curtis are college students, Judy is in junior high, Elizabeth and Deborah are in fifth and first grade, respectively. The Karlstad Family Singers have made five previous concert tours having appeared in over 300 major cities in the U.S. and Canada. Their ambitious repertoire is marked with sacred classics by such composers as Bach, Brahms, Grieg, Gretchaninoff, Handel, Tchaikowsky and Christiansen.

A variety of folk songs and carols from different countries is included.

Children are urged to come with their parents to make this a family affair. The public is cordially invited.

The American Field Service Clubs will join in their efforts to raise funds for Pacifica's foreign exchange student program, which has applied for a foreign student to Terra Nova next year. Other future plans are to send a Pacifica student abroad.

Students will wash cars from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at K and J Texaco on Linda Mar Boulevard and Coast Highway, and Gordon's Shell on Aura Vista and Palmetto in Pacific Manor. The price for each car is 99 cents.

Anne-Marie Galopin, French A.F.S. student at Oceana this year, is rolling up her sleeves to participate in the American institution, the car wash, because, "It's fun!" But mainly, as she explained in a French accent:

"The community gave so much for me to be here that I think it's the least I can do to help give someone the same chance I had."

The Western Association of Schools has announced that Terra Nova has been accredited for the full term of five years by the Accrediting Commission for Secondary Schools.

Student body elections are due to hit campus soon. Petitions for nominations have been in circulation and candidates are preparing their campaigns.

"You Can't Take It With You," the TN senior play held last Friday and Saturday, and the weekend before, seems to be a success with a capital "S."

Each class will do a dance with all classes joining in "The Hokey Pokey" for the finale.

Jefferson Students Visit S.F. State

The fifth grade of Jefferson Elementary School under the guidance of their teacher, Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, were guests of the Science Department of San Francisco State College last week.

Dr. Robert A. Thornton and Dr. Willard A. Brown conducted demonstrations of electricity and magnetism in the college laboratory.

The Science Department was then toured as well as the campus in general.

An unplanned but fortunate part of the trip was the opportunity for the class to hear a final rehearsal of the San Francisco State Symphony Orchestra.

City of Hope To Hold a Luncheon

The Northern Peninsula Chapter of the City of Hope will hold a "Luncheon With the Bunnies" at the Playboy Club in San Francisco at noon on June 1.

A hat style show presented by Mr. Jose of Italy of the Marjorie Jackson Chapeaux Unlimited of San Francisco will be given at the affair.

For tickets and information, interested parties may contact Mrs. Robert DeLuca at WY 2-0226 or Mrs. Donald Feldman at JU 3-0639.

BARBECUED CHEESE FOLD-OVERS like these are delicious as do-it-yourself appetizers especially for teen-age parties, according to home economists for the Dairy Council of California who neighborhood tested them.

Neighborhood testers for the Dairy Council of California found these Barbecued Cheese Fold-Over Appetizers especially favored by the teen-age crowd.

Japanese Fried Shrimp For Gourmet

You aren't cosmopolitan until you've tried Japanese fried shrimp.

Mushroom Soup
Melba Toast
Japanese Fried Shrimp
Rice
Fruit Compote
Cookies
JAPANESE FRIED SHRIMP
2 to 2½ pounds large shrimp
2 cups flour
½ cup cornstarch
2 tablespoons (yes, tablespoons) baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg, lightly beaten
1½ cups water
Corn oil for frying and flour for dusting

Peel shrimp leaving tail shell on. With a small sharp knife, cut along upper curvature of each shrimp and remove black vein. Mix together the flour, cornstarch, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in egg with a fork. Add water and stir with the fork until all the flour is moistened—about 15 seconds. Do not try to dissolve the small lumps of flour; batter should be lumpy. To shallow-fry shrimp, fill a deep frypan or electric skillet ½ to 1 inch deep with oil. To deep-fry, fill a kettle 1-3 full of oil. Heat oil to 375 degrees. While oil is heating, dip shrimp in flour and shake to remove excess. Just before frying, use tongs and dip each shrimp in flour and shake to remove excess. Just before frying, use tongs and dip each shrimp into batter, then add to hot oil. In skillet, fry 8 to 10 shrimp at a time; in kettle, fry only 2 or 3 shrimp at a time. Cook, turning once—3 to 4 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 40. Serve with soy sauce mixed with grated white radish.

A Quick Refresher

Summertime and the weather gets hotter (to do a bit of paraphrasing). Along with the hot weather, energy frequently drops so here's a refreshing energy-packed drink to help pull one out of the summertime doldrums. For six servings whip one quart well-chilled buttermilk with one pint strawberry tablespoons confectioners' sugar. If made in an electric beater make half the recipe at a time.

Of course you've planned Father's Day of food feature! Perhaps the favorite breakfast meats, meat courses, or home-made desserts of prominent local fathers; a page of home-made salads to satisfy the male appetite and keep the calorie count down; or, since men are great soup-drinkers, a column of new and appealing summer soup ideas.

They're a do-it-yourself item that requires little preparation by host or hostess. Granada Colelaw with its specially blended buttermilk dressing is good not only as a salad but for poking a bit into the Cheese Fold-Overs after barbecuing. Milk is a natural with these. Recipe makes 12 Fold-Overs.

1 dozen fresh tortillas
1 can (1 pound 4-ounces) refried beans
1 can (4-ounces) green chiles, seeded and cut in strips
Monterey Jack, Cheddar or Swiss cheese slices, cut in ½ cup (1 stick) butter, melted
Granada Colelaw, if desired

Spread each tortilla with about 2 tablespoons refried beans. Add a strip of green chile and two or more strips of cheese. Fold over and secure with food picks or skewers. Brush with melted butter and place over glowing coals. Grill about 5 minutes, turning once, or until cheese is melted and tortillas are slightly crisp. Serve hot.

Granada Colelaw. For 6 to 8 servings combine 4 cups finely shredded cabbage with ½ cup sliced ripe olives, ¼ cup minced onion and ¼ cup minced green pepper. Chill until ready to serve. Blend 1 cup dairy fresh buttermilk with 2 teaspoons sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons wine vinegar or lemon juice and a dash of cayenne. Pour over cabbage and toss lightly. Garnish with rings of green pepper and a few whole ripe olives, if desired.

Springtime Cobbler For An Appetite

In the spring the hungry man's thoughts turn to cobbler.

Fish Chowder
Salad Bowl
Deviled Ham Sandwiches
Springtime Cobbler
Beverage

SPRINGTIME COBBLER
1 pint strawberries, hulled
1½ cups (generous) pink or red rhubarb, cut in 1-inch lengths
2-3 cup sugar
1 cup unsifted regular flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 large egg
3 tablespoons milk

Mix the berries and rhubarb with 2-3 cup sugar; arrange in alternate fashion as much as possible in an oblong oven-glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1½ inches).

On wax paper, stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. In electric mixer bowl, cream butter, sugar and vanilla; add egg and beat at high speed for at least 1 minute. Stir in half the flour mixture, then milk, then remaining flour mixture; do not beat. Spoon batter over fruit and spread evenly with small spatula. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out without batter adhering to it—40 to 45 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream. (Stir flour to aerate before measuring.)

COLORFUL FRUIT cocktail and bright, warm rice make a memorable treat of . . . "Old-Fashioned Rice Pudding."

An Old Fashioned Rice Pudding Idea

Who doesn't like to think back once in awhile . . . particularly when memories are of food? "Old-Fashioned Rice Pudding" made colorful by the addition of canned fruit cocktail recalls the warm, spicy fragrance of grand mother's kitchen, and young appetites whetted by play. Cooked slowly and served warm, it's satisfying, substantial and a real treat.

Old-Fashioned Rice Pudding
1 can (1 lb. 1 oz.) fruit cocktail
½ cup rice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cardamom (optional)
2½ cups milk
Cream

Drain fruit cocktail. In the top of a double boiler combine rice, salt, sugar and cardamom. Stir in milk. Place over boiling water and cook 1 to 1½ hours until rice is tender and liquid absorbed. Stir occasionally. Remove from heat and stir in drained fruit cocktail. Serve warm with cream.
Makes 6 servings.

Seven Peninsula Chambers Hear Meeting Report

Representatives of seven Peninsula chambers of commerce met with other community leaders at Uncle John's Pancake House in Millbrae, to hear a report from Cliff Davis, director of the Belmont Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D.C.

Davis, who is also a member of the U.S. Chamber's Manufacturers and Distributors Committee, told of the series of meetings he had attended while in Washington.

He expressed his concern over growing government controls, telling local chamber men that eventually "you won't be able to run your own business at all—you'll be told to do this and that."

"We're not going to be allowed to solve our own problems," he warned.

Davis introduced John P. Greenagle, recently appointed by the national chamber to the position of district manager for Northern California and Nevada.

Greenagle's job, according to the chamber, will be to help businessmen "make full use of local resources for total community development."

He will also organize political participation programs for businessmen, and keep them informed on congressional action. Greenagle said he proposes to set up a nine-week "action course in practical politics" to help Peninsula businessmen "mobilize to get their own views before Congress."

"Somehow," he said, "business is not getting across its message." We haven't communicated to our men in Washington what our concerns are, and how we feel about issues.

More and more businessmen have got to do what the labor people have done," he declared, urging his listeners to become more active in politics.

Kenneth Brown, executive secretary of the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce, urged political awareness on the local level.

"With a bureaucracy operating right in our midst," he said, "I think it is most important that we watch Redwood City as well as local governments and school districts."

"It is time to start watching this county takeover down here," he said.

County supervisors last week cut from their tentative budget an annual $10,000 appropriation for the San Mateo Chamber, in favor of supporting a county fair board.

Write-in Win In Pacifica C. of C. Vote

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce last Thursday elected a new member to its board of directors and re-elected two incumbents.

Eight men had been running for three open positions.

Basil Gladioux, a write-in candidate for the post held by Ansel Minshew, is the new board member. He is a former manager of the chamber. Minshew did not seek re-election.

The two incumbents are Mario Torrigino of the Coastside Scavenger Company and Lyle Planje of Wells Fargo Bank.

According to Bernard Lake, the chamber's manager, 60 members of the chamber voted last week. There are 96 members in the Pacifica unit.

Bnai Brith Women Plan Gathering

Seven Hills Chapter of B'nai Brith Women will hold its first meeting of the new term next Wednesday, 8:30 p.m., at the Lake Merced Boardhouse, Skyline Drive.

The program for the evening will be a speaker from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai Brith. Following his presentation, a movie will be shown highlighting his topic.

Two Injured In Collision

Two persons were injured about 2:30 a.m. Saturday morning when an auto careened against a parked car in South San Francisco.

Injured were Diana Miles, 22, of 1030 Grand Avenue, South San Francisco, the driver, and Carol Gomes, 21, of 113 San Bruno Avenue, Brisbane, a passenger.

They were treated for minor cuts and bruises at Peninsula Hospital.

Police said the car struck an auto registered to Margaret Runyan of 1015 Hillside Boulevard. The car was parked in front of her house.

'The Cut Of A Christian' Is Talk Topic

The sermon subject this Sunday at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church is "The Cut of a Christian."

The two worship services and Sunday schools are at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

The organist, James Whitlow plays "Blessed Ye Who Live in Faith" by Brahms, "Meditation" by Becker, and "The Lord Is My Strength" by Novello.

Music director, Del Severy, leads the church choir in "Cause Us, O Lord" by Nelson. Kay Mattson sings the solo, "Come Unto Me" by Coenen. Infant care is provided.

Included in the Sunday school are the two sessions for junior high taught by Darwen Hennings, John Johnston, Tim Tweedie, Karl Ostberg, Ray Herrick and Flip Reade.

The 9:30 a.m. high school seminar is taught by Dr. and Mrs. William Mason with the Kenneth Gillespies leading the 7 p.m. high school fellowship.

HERMAN SWARTS

Herman Swarts, 93, 325 Fairway Drive in South San Francisco, died at Notre Dame Hospital in San Francisco last Wednesday after a long illness.

He was a native of California and had been a resident of South San Francisco for six months.

He was a retired shipping clerk for American Can Company.

Jewel MacEwen of San Francisco is his sole surviving relative.

Services were held from Larson Garden Chapel, South San Francisco.

Burial was in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

He also said that other cities, notably San Bruno, would be celebrating that week as Aviation Appreciation Week.

Candidates seeking non-partisan county offices are being invited as well, and acceptances have been received from Wesley Pomeroy, candidate for supervisor, Marvin Church, candidate for county recorder, and Martin J. Sweeney, candidate for county assessor.

Cushing presently maintains such a schedule in the Linda Mar area, but is unable to serve the rest of the community with full schedules.

The reason, he explained, is that he has had to turn to school bus contracts to stay afloat financially. He takes the children to school in the morning, then begins regular passenger runs, he said. But in the afternoon, he must curtail some passenger service in order to return the school children to their homes.

Only with help, he told councilmen, can he begin a full-time service.

Cushing maintained that the aid would need to be temporary only, declaring that within "about a year" he believed the service would be paying for itself.

The Pacifica City Council, which heard a procession of citizens testify both in favor of and against city aid to the "Little Red Bus" service last Wednesday, will hold a public meeting on the matter at 7:30 tomorrow with the city's transportation committee present.

John Cushing, operator of the transit service, had asked the city to contribute $400 a month to help him expand into the northern section of the city on a full-time, hourly schedule.

The Linda Mar service is now self-sustaining, he pointed out.

Gerry Schumacher, a real estate agent, said the council "should encourage a full intracity service," to help promote patronage of local businesses.

William Hartz, an unsuccessful council candidate last month, warned that community facilities such as the planned $80,000 Boys' Club would be wasted without adequate means of transporting people to them.

Firemen to "Have a Ball"

DALY CITY FIREMEN'S BALL will be held Saturday at 9 p.m. at War Memorial Building. Receiving his tickets from Fire Chief Herbert Ritzmann is Daly City Mayor Albert Polonsky. The public may obtain tickets for the affair from the Fire Department or at the door. Cost is $1.

Mayor Sets Aviation Week

Daly City Mayor Albert Polonsky, has proclaimed the week of May 15 to 21 Aviation Appreciation Week.

The mayor cited the need for the citizens of the city to realize the importance of the International Airport in San Bruno.

He also said that other cities, notably San Bruno, would be celebrating that week as Aviation Appreciation Week.

Candidates seeking non-partisan county offices are being invited as well, and acceptances have been received from Wesley Pomeroy, candidate for supervisor, Marvin Church, candidate for county recorder, and Martin J. Sweeney, candidate for county assessor.

Pacifica Transit Meeting Tonight

Candidates' Night Ready In Daly City

North County residents are invited to attend a candidates' night program sponsored by the Republican precinct organization of Daly City-Colma on Wednesday, May 25, at 8 p.m. at Pauline Brown school, multipurpose room, 305 Eastmoor Avenue, Daly City.

Republican candidates running for state and county positions have been invited to appear.

Scheduled to participate to date is Robert Miller, candidate for the 27th Assembly District, plus George Carr, San Francisco attorney, representing the Christopher for governor campaign, and Ned Hutchinson, San Mateo County chairman for Reagan, speaking for the Reagan campaign for governor.

Congressman J. Arthur Younger, still in session in Washington, will be represented by George McQueen. Wayne McFadden, administrative aide to Senator Richard J. Dolwig, will represent the senator, who also remains in session, but in Sacramento.

Candidates seeking non-partisan county offices are being invited as well, and acceptances have been received from Wesley Pomeroy, candidate for supervisor, Marvin Church, candidate for county recorder, and Martin J. Sweeney, candidate for county assessor.

The Pacifica City Council, which heard a procession of citizens testify both in favor of and against city aid to the "Little Red Bus" service last Wednesday, will hold a public meeting on the matter at 7:30 tomorrow with the city's transportation committee present.

John Cushing, operator of the transit service, had asked the city to contribute $400 a month to help him expand into the northern section of the city on a full-time, hourly schedule.

Cushing presently maintains such a schedule in the Linda Mar area, but is unable to serve the rest of the community with full schedules.

The reason, he explained, is that he has had to turn to school bus contracts to stay afloat financially. He takes the children to school in the morning, then begins regular passenger runs, he said. But in the afternoon, he must curtail some passenger service in order to return the school children to their homes.

Only with help, he told councilmen, can he begin a full-time service.

Cushing maintained that the aid would need to be temporary only, declaring that within "about a year" he believed the service would be paying for itself.

The Linda Mar service is now self-sustaining, he pointed out.

Gerry Schumacher, a real estate agent, said the council "should encourage a full intracity service," to help promote patronage of local businesses.

William Hartz, an unsuccessful council candidate last month, warned that community facilities such as the planned $80,000 Boys' Club would be wasted without adequate means of transporting people to them.

Four Stabbed in Fight At Party in San Bruno House

Four men were stabbed during a brief fight at a private party in a San Bruno house early Saturday.

Three of the men needed hospital treatment and the fourth, reportedly an AWOL sailor, was sought by police.

Sgt. William Rodgers said the combatants wielded an ice pick, kitchen knives and a switchblade knife.

The fight, he said broke out in the home of Leo Aycock of 22 Pacific Avenue. Injured were: Joseph Huizar, 28, of San Francisco, admitted to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with an abdomen wound.

Tim Carter, 23, of 349 Niantic Avenue, Daly City, treated at Mary's Help Hospital for a slash in the right shoulder.

Marvin Ave, 20, who gave a South San Francisco hotel as his address, treated at Kaiser in San Francisco for a left arm wound.

Arrested on a charge of investigation of assault with a deadly weapon was Gerald M. McKelvie, 22, of 230 Armour Avenue, South San Francisco.

Rodgers said Frank Huizar, 24, who also listed a South San Francisco hotel as his address, was "stomped on" in the melee and was treated at Peninsula Hospital and released.

The fight, Rodgers said, erupted between two men who were arguing over a girl. The scuffle lasted about 15 minutes before police broke it up.

Bandit Takes $75, Orders Store Clerks to Take Walk

A bandit held up a South San Francisco liquor store last Wednesday night and then ordered two clerks to walk for a block before he fled.

The robber escaped with $75 taken from a cash register at Colombo's Liquors at 507 Linden Avenue shortly before 10 p.m.

Stanley J. Johnson, 23, one of the clerks, told Patrolman Gary Paoli that the robber walked in and, opening a paper bag, ordered all the cash in the register placed in the bag.

Three Girls Are Hurt In Bruno Crash

Three 15-year-old San Bruno girls, all passengers in an auto, suffered minor injuries about 10:30 Friday night when the auto and another car collided on San Bruno Avenue, east of Cherry Avenue, in San Bruno.

Treated at Peninsula Hospital and released were:

Beverly J. Hourcade, of 3181 Crestmoor Drive, scalp cuts and forehead bruises.

Linda C. Hurley of 3400 Crestmoor, lower lip cut.

Robin Ann Burruto, of 3401 Crestmoor, multiple bruises.

Police identified the drivers of the cars as Patrick L. Callaway, 17, of 3320 Crestmoor, San Bruno, and Craig H. Wight, 18, of 4333 Beresford Court, San Mateo.

Guilty Angels Sentencing Date Is Set

Three members of the Hells Angels last week pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness and unlawful assembly stemming from a brawl with Daly City police April 14.

Richard W. Othen, 23, of Campbell; Lawrence W. Cook, 23, of Santa Clara, and Gary Bruce Maker, 24, of San Jose, face a possible maximum sentence of six months in jail and a $500 fine on each count.

The trio will appear for sentencing June 21, after probation reports are filed.

They were charged, along with six other motorcyclists, with rioting outside a Geneva Avenue tavern, following the funeral of a fellow club member.

Yet to appear in Superior Court are four other angels charged with suspicion of assaulting an officer, a felony.

Two other members of the gang are awaiting trial, one on misdemeanor and one on felony charges.

Bruno Crash Injures One

One person was injured in a car-panel truck collision on San Bruno Avenue, east of Elm Avenue, in San Bruno, shortly before 5 p.m. last Wednesday.

Michael J. Pedreira, 24, of 823 Linden Avenue, South San Francisco, driver of the car, was treated at Peninsula Hospital for an injured right knee and possible back injuries.

The driver of the truck was identified as Terrence A. Cain, 21, of San Francisco. He was cited for driving with defective brakes.

Two D.C. Men Pass Bar Test

Anthony Paul Bellante, 52 Westmont Drive, Daly City, and Norbert Cyrille Babin, 134 Edgemont Drive, Daly City, were among the 16 San Mateo County residents who passed the 1966 spring bar examination.

The bar examiners will certify the candidates who have qualified for admission to practice law at ceremonies before the Supreme Court in San Francisco June 21.

'Till Tap' Ruse Nets Thieves $95

Two smooth-working thieves took $95 in trailer rental receipts from a San Bruno gas station early Friday night. Police said one of the thieves kept an attendant busy while the other rifled a cashbox.

Henry Rogers of 478 Granada Drive, South San Francisco, the attendant at Hank's Hancock Station at Sneath Lane and El Camino Real, said one of the thieves asked details about renting a trailer.

The other man, Rogers said, was slumped down in the front seat of the pair's auto and later seemed to have disappeared.

The first man then said he couldn't find his friend and drove off. When Rogers checked the cash box, he found the money missing, police said.

Man Hurt In Tavern Fight

A San Francisco man was treated for head cuts at Peninsula Hospital last Tuesday night after a short scuffle in a San Bruno tavern.

Andre H. Muth, 32, was found lying face down in front of the San Bruno Cocktail Club at 677 San Mateo Avenue about 9 p.m.

Playhouse to Limit Nightly Ticket Sales

Ticket sale for the Spindrift Playhouse's production of John Steinbeck's "Burning Bright" will be limited to around 100 each night of the two-weekend run, according to Luther Spraker, producer and ticket chairman.

Spraker announced tickets for sale, either through members of the group or some other outlet yet to be announced. Further information may be obtained from him at 355-6735.

The drama concerning man's quest for continuance of his bloodline is portrayed by characters in three different settings, a circus tent, a farmhouse and a ship at sea. The three-act play, directed by Sydney Clark, will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, May 27 and 28 and June 3 and 4, at the Sharp Park branch of the San Mateo County Library.

The Steinbeck play is the second to be given by San Mateo's Countys' newest little theater. The first production was Sartre's "No Exit," in January. Information concerning membership in the Spindrift Playhouse is available from Robert McGouldrick, president.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Small cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones.

If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.

A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.

Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech and the ability to chew food and to help prevent other dental diseases.

Regular dental treatment will help you to have teeth that are both healthy and attractive.

Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help protect the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

TODAY WHILE listening to a recording of "Olive" I realized that in act one, scene one, I had the makings of a column. The first scene is in the workhouse dining room where the hungry boys wolf down the thin gruel that is served them and sing of "Food, Glorious Food." Always hungry, they imagine the pleasures of eating all you want and the menu is indeed glorious, ranging from roast beef to custard.

The roast beef that the hungry boys sing about so lovingly is always a favorite. And I'd like to consider today it's preparation and serving.

The cut of beef that we think of most often when preparing a dinner is a standing rib roast. And it is a gem, tender and flavorful. But there are other cuts that are just as delicious: a rolled rib roast, sirloin tip or a beef tenderloin. And they are all prepared in the same way.

When buying a standing rib roast, allow 1/2 pound per person. It's wise to buy a roast weighing four pounds or over, as shrinkage is higher on a smaller roast.

STANDING RIB OF ROAST BEEF

Wipe roast with damp cloth, but do not wash. Rub with salt and pepper. Use garlic salt if you wish.

Place on rack, fat side up in an open roasting pan; insert meat thermometer so bulb reaches center of cut. Roast in a 325-degree oven until meat thermometer reads 140-degrees for rare, 160-degrees for medium and 170-degrees for well done. The minutes per pound read as follows: 18-22 for rare, 23-28 for medium and 27-33 for well done.

The amount of bone, thickness of cut and many other factors affect roasting time. But use these figures as guidelines.

Do not add water and do not cover pan. About one hour before serving place peeled and halved potatoes in the roasting pan. They will cook to a delicious crusty goodness.

IF YOU are lucky and there is some of the delicious beef left this recipe for Peking beef will give you one more tasty meal.

PEKING BEEF

- 2 cups cooked roast beef, cut into slivers
- 3 Tbs. salad oil
- 3 cups cauliflower, separated into flowerettes (1 medium size head)
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 cup undiluted condensed consommé
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 2 teas. fresh lemon juice
- 1 Tbsp. finely chopped onion
- 1 pkg. frozen peas
- Salt

Hot cooked rice

Heat salad oil in skillet. Add cauliflower and saute over medium heat, turning constantly with a spatula, for three minutes. Do not brown. Turn heat low, add water and cover. Steam two or three minutes, or until the cauliflower is as tender as desired.

Mix together consommé, cornstarch, soy sauce, lemon juice and onion; stir well until blended and pour over cauliflower. Add beef, peas and salt to taste (about 1 teaspoon). Cook over medium heat turning constantly with a spatula, until mixture is steaming hot and sauce is thickened.

Serve over hot cooked rice. Makes 4 generous servings.

RECENTLY MRS. KAY VARDARA who lives at 42-Thirty-eighth Avenue in San Francisco served some delicious cookies at a bridge party. Naturally, I was quick to ask for the recipe and to my pleasure the name of the recipe is Sugar and Spice. What could be nicer for me?

These cookies are delicious, easily made and make lots of cookies that are so pretty to look at they look boughten. (A high compliment.)

SUGAR 'N' SPICE COOKIES

- 1 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup shortening
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup molasses
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3/4 teaspoon cloves and ginger

Cream the sugar and shortening together and add the egg and molasses. Mix thoroughly.

Sift together the flour, salt, soda, cinnamon, cloves and ginger. Add to the creamed mixture and blend well. Set in refrigerator to chill thoroughly.

Roll into small balls and space on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in 375-degree oven about 15 to 20 minutes.

SUPERVISOR JEAN FASSLER and husband Joseph display presidential scroll signifying her appointment to President's Council on Recreation and Natural Beauty. Appointment was made in ceremonies in White House Rose Garden May 4, with Johnsons and Washington dignitaries present. Mrs. Fassler also received pen used by President Johnson in signing of the proclamation establishing the new group.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENT

Supervisor Fassler Wins U.S. Appoinment By Johnson

San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler last week was named by President Johnson to a 12-member national citizens' committee to chart the nation's course in recreational areas. It was a signal honor for the board member from Pacifica. Johnson said the nation "has just begun to scratch the surface of ugliness, neglect, and decay in city and countryside. He called for redoubled efforts to build a more beautiful America. To push this effort, Associated Press reports, the President signed an executive order creating a President's Committee on Recreation and Natural Beauty, composed of cabinet members and other officials, along with a 12-member Citizens' Advisory Committee.

THE JEFFERSON A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Jefferson Choirs Will Hold Concert Friday Night at 8

The a cappella and Chamber choirs of Jefferson High School will present a concert at 8 p.m. Friday, in the school cafeteria. The concert will be dedicated to the memory of Jefferson's late principal, John P. Mongan. Jefferson's choral music department has brought high honors to the school. The Chamber Choir gave a command performance at San Francisco State College for the California Music Educators' Association on May 7. This invitation was extended because the Jefferson High School a cappella choir, received a "superior" rating, the highest possible, at the Bay Section Music Festival April 23. In the same competition, Gladys Burke, a noted choral director, complimented the excellence of the choir and urged it to explore wider areas of music for future concerts. Tickets for the show may be purchased after school or at the door that night.

2 Policemen Are Promoted

Two promotions and two transfers within the South San Francisco Police Department were announced by Chief John Fabbri.

Chief Fabbri said the promotions had been earned by outstanding performance and devotion to duty by Officer James Datzman, and Officer Billy Peterson.

Datzman, 27, started with the department in 1960 as a clerk-dispatcher, and is now ranked a sergeant.

Peterson, 31, also with the department since 1960, as a patrolman, now is a detective.

At the same time, Chief Fabbri said, Lt. James Keane was being moved from the patrol division to take over the detective division.

Sgt. Sal Rosano, who has been heading the detective division, will take over the patrol division, reported Fabbri.

TRAVEL TRAILERS come in many sizes and in many different types, and are perfect for family vacations. Many different units will be at the Cow Palace show.

Mobile Home Show Opens on May 18

Mobile homes and travel trailers—valued at more than $500,000—will be the huge attraction when the "Greatest Show on Wheels," the Northern California Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show moves into the Cow Palace for a five-day turn, May 18 through 22.

The show promises to be the greatest ever held in northern California. More than 100 models of mobile homes and travel trailers, representing virtually every major manufacturer in the west, will be available for inspection by the general public.

The models will completely fill the main arena of the Cow Palace, both the north and south halls, and the east exhibit hall. In just one year, the show has outgrown the main Cow Palace building. More than five million Americans have adopted this new way of living, according to the sponsoring Trailer Coach Association. "The show is a giant 'home show' for the ladies," said Arley Shields, show chairman. "They will be able to see more than 300 individual rooms, all professionally decorated by some of the nation's top interior decorators.

"This is the equivalent of more than 60 or more individual homes — if a person were to visit model homes in a subdivision," he added. "The only difference is that these rooms are on wheels, and they will offer the lady of the house a wonderful afternoon or evening of ideas and browsing. And the uninitiated person will be most pleasantly surprised with the spectacular 1966 line of mobile homes and travel trailers."

Mobile homes and travel trailers with such features as sunken bathtubs, 17x22 living-dining rooms, picture windows, modern kitchens (with washers, dryers, dishwasher), full-length closet mirrors, stylish bathrooms, circular beds, beautiful wood paneling, planting area, snack bars, and many other modern niceties will be on display.

Travel trailers from 13-feet up, valued from $1,200, will provide plenty of interest for the vacationer, sportsman. Mobile homes—from small ones to 1,200 square feet, three-bedrooms, two-baths — will astound the family who has not seen them before.

Mobile homes and travel trailers have great appeal to all age groups. Young married couples are becoming interested in mobile homes because of their comparative low cost, the compactness, the mobility.

Doors open at 10 a.m. each day, and the show will be open until 10 p.m. each night, except Sunday (7 p.m.). Admission price is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children from 6-14, and children under 6 are free.

17-Vehicle Caravan To Tour State

SAN FRANCISCO—A caravan of 17 recreational camper vehicles launched a two-month tour of 40 Northern California cities from here this week, focusing widespread attention on the booming camping industry.

The "Ford Camper Caravan" is sponsored by area Ford dealers and the San Jose Ford district sales office. Twelve major camper manufacturers also are participating in the program.

The 17 units making up the caravan will include a wide selection of camper vehicles, ranging from the 26-foot-long Condor which accommodates eight people to the compact Bronco camper.

The display includes several expandable models which are stretched as much as 10 feet in size from over-the-road length.

The caravan also will include several cab-over units and chassis mounts in addition to the self-contained vehicles.

All of the units are part of Ford's fleet of recreational vehicles featuring the F-250 and F-100 "Camper Specials," the F-350 chassis-mounted campers, compact Econoline Vans and the sporty new Ranchero pickup along with the four-wheel-drive Bronco.

The caravan is a pilot program for Ford Motor Company and may launch a series of additional caravans in other sections of the nation.

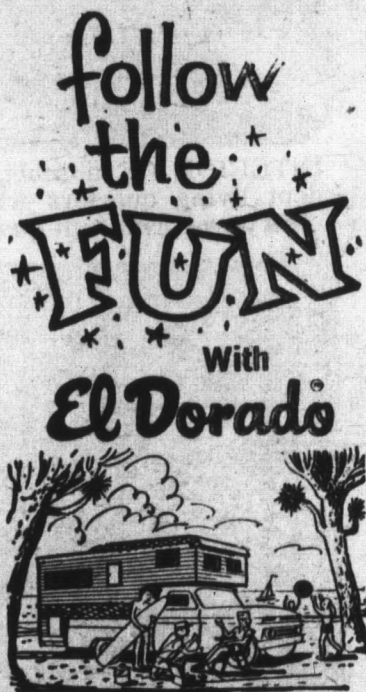

James A. King, Ford's San Jose district sales manager, said the program was designed "to call attention to the vast and growing interest in the camping industry and Ford's role in camping."

Camper manufacturers, all from California, who are participating in the program are: Condor Coach, El Dorado, Tropicana Campers, Highway Cruisers, Dreamer, Travel Equipment, Sportsliner, X-Tra Campers, Siesta, Caveman, Travette and Hy-Lo.

AERIAL VIEW of mobile unit dormitories, designed, engineered, and installed by Instant Space, owned and operated by Paul Grayson and Jerry Grayson. At the new University of California at Santa Cruz as temporary dormitories to house more than 300 students on the campus until permanent buildings can be constructed. Arranged in groups of eight trailers, each unit houses eight students and is divided into four double bedrooms and a bath. This cluster scheme has attracted international attention in the critical housing areas.

Purchase Of Mobile Home Found Easier

Not everybody can own a home, but almost everybody can buy a mobile home.

The average homeowner must buy a lot and build his house. Or, he may buy his house and lot in one parcel. Not the mobile homeowner. He buys a mobile home and has it towed to the site he prefers, or to an attractive mobile home park.

Just like any other homeowner, the mobile home purchaser can buy on the instalment plan. Monthly payments are quite reasonable. This is because the basic price of the mobile home is low. A new model mobile home is usually financed on a seven-year basis. There are some areas where units of certain manufacturers have been financed over a ten-year period.

The potential mobile homeowner should bear in mind that down payments are a reasonable per cent of the selling price. It is a common practice for dealers to accept used mobile homes as trade-ins. This trade-in practice also covers conventional homes. Many of these dealers will accept furniture, appliances, and other items on a trade-in basis when a new mobile home is purchased.

Reliable mobile home dealers, such as members of the Trailer Coach Association, can be of great assistance to the buyer. They can arrange his financing, select the model he requires and advise the type of insurance to carry. Furthermore, the dealer can explain the warranties on appliances and the service guarantees on the mobile home, as well as state and local regulations pertaining to mobile homes.

Ford Gave Lindy Trailer

Pioneer Aviator Charles Lindbergh was an ardent travel trailerist. For 15 years, Lindy and his wife Anne used a trailer.

The trailer was given Lindy by Henry Ford, an ardent zealot, who from 1914 to 1924 made yearly camping trips with Thomas Edison, Harvey Firestone and John Burroughs.

Ford and his friends travelled in three trucks which carried refrigerator unit, portable generator, water supply and tents. In 1935, Ford had the trailer built, for display and study purposes, for seeing the day of the travel trailer and mobile home.

In 1942, after exhibiting it at Dearborn, he gave it to Lindbergh, after learning of the latter's desire for seclusion. The Lindberghs toured the Atlantic seaboard in 1946, 22 states in 1947. This last trip was to Canada in 1957.

Convenience New Park Feature

By BILL PALETHORPE

The day of the trailer court is gone!

In place of these often inadequate and unsightly camping places is the modern mobile home park, featuring luxury and convenience of living undreamed of 20 years ago.

One visit to a modern mobile home park will convince even the most skeptical that living on wheels is currently "in."

Perhaps the newest such installation in these parts is in the Santa Cruz area. It is Spring Lakes Mobile Home Park. This beautiful residential area is a good example and a visit by anyone considering this mode of living is strongly recommended.

Carved from a former peat bog by Bill Graham and his lovely wife, Shirley, Spring Lakes rivals the most de luxe fixed-residence area on the Peninsula. Decor and surroundings are comparable to neighborhoods containing homes in the $50,000 plus price range.

The restful surroundings of this new installation (first tenants moved in last November) include three lakes complete with swans, mallard ducks, a tea house on stilts over the water and stocked with more than 3,000 rainbow trout—all exclusively for the use of the park's tenants.

Swim and Sauna

Rounding out the facilities are a swimming pool, sauna bath, hot pool to ease aches and pains, de luxe club house with card room, pool tables, color TV, complete kitchen, and many other extras too numerous to mention.

In fact, the aura of Spring

SPRING LAKES SCENE—Enjoyable setting is conducive to leisure living at Spring Lakes Mobile Home Park.

Lakes is as luxurious as the country club, so popular in the '20s and '30s—with modern design and conveniences thrown in that better the best that era had to offer.

The most surprising thing to the uninitiated is that the facilities mentioned above are commonplace in today's mobile park. Spring Lakes is not unique in offering them to their tenants. Central and Northern California alone has more than 500 such parks, with varying "extras."

And more are building every week, according to the Trailer Coach Association, the big industry-wide association covering the 11 western states.

To show how de luxe living in a park like Spring Lakes can really be, the TCA initiated a program of Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Shows several years ago. The largest of these are the upcoming Northern California Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show at San Francisco's Cow Palace May 18 through 22 and the industry's biggest western show at Los Angeles in October.

These expositions feature everything from the smallest traveling trailer of 10 to 12 feet in length to the large luxury home ranging to 24 feet wide and 60 feet long.

Accessories

Additional displays include suppliers of various accessories and new parks like Spring Lakes, which will have a display at the coming San Francisco show to graphically display the beauty and comfort they provide their tenants.

Not only can this method of living be relaxing, it can prove most economical when the offered "extras" are considered. Spring Lakes, for instance, charges from $65 to $85 per month for space rental. All the park's facilities are available to the tenants and included in this fee.

To assure maximum enjoyment is guaranteed Spring Lakes and many other mobile home park tenants, social activities are co-ordinated either by a social director or the park manager. These run the gamut from the expected bingo and shuffleboard tournaments to organized tours as far as 500 miles.

For the ladies, afternoon card clubs, sewing classes or clubs and coffee clubs are almost always offered.

Hobbies and Pool

The men usually have their choice of card rooms, pool tables and often equipped hobby-room workshops for their leisure hours.

Parks accepting young families always have de luxe playground equipment for the youngsters, often including their personal wading pool.

Life on wheels—a modern de luxe and gracious way to live—evidenced by the more than 43,000 families now enjoying it in this area.

If you would like to see for yourself what luxury your family may enjoy by this new "in" method of life—and how much leisure time you may have because of the low upkeep time required in a mobile home—be sure to visit the Northern California Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show at the Cow Palace, May 18 to 22.

PEACEFUL VISTA—Footbridge over the water is the idyllic setting at Spring Lakes.

SAILOR'S REST—Some put an oar on their shoulder and walk until asked "What is it?" But mobile home owners today can enjoy the fine water that settled a different kind of seafarer.

Sailor Left Legacy Of Good Water

Hiram D. Scott's valley, that is. Hiram—the sailor who bought the Rancho San Augustin in 1852 and promptly renamed the land after himself and started a little country town now known as Scotts Valley.

Well, the most westerly section of the old Spanish land grant is now the site of the Rolls Royce of all mobilehome parks—Spring Lakes.

Bill Graham, owner-developer, has made exciting use of the abundant (and delicious) water on the old rancho—channeling it into lakes and streams winding through and around the park.

He's saved four acres of wild azalea woodland for the residents' use as their own picnic, bar-b-q, walking and just plain breathing area.

He's put in wide paths around the lakes as an incentive for you to walk around to see and feed (and catch) the rainbow trout, to watch the mamma Mallard and her 14 ducklings, to follow the exquisite Mandarin ducks and to watch for the hatch of the cygnets that the mamma swan is now faithfully nesting on her own private island. (The picture above, taken by Bill's mother Lola Beall Graham, gives you an inkling.

This is a sample of what Bill has done, but there is much more. He's brought serenity, elegance, and luxury to the new way of life—mobilehome living—in the most westerly section of the old rancho in the little country town known as Scotts Village.

Come see for yourself—Spring Lakes—on the sunny side of Santa Cruz between the mountains and the sea, Graham urges.

MANY SITES

Maine's thousands of lakes and hundreds of waterfront miles provide a wealth of camp and trailer sites. An increasing number of branch roads lead to hitherto inaccessible camping spots.

44 Million Campers Expected to Double

The figure of 44 million campers in the nation today is expected to double in the next decade.

That was the prediction of O. Fred Yando, Ford's western regional sales manager, who painted a glowing picture of the boom in the recreational vehicle industry.

He said that California sets the pace in camper vehicle production with approximately one-third of the business. The state has 100 builders of travel trailers, truck-mount campers, camping trailers and motor homes.

A forecast of total sales in these units for the year was placed at 338,000 units, a 25 per cent increase over the 270,000 units produced during 1965.

One example of the fabulous growth in the camping industry, he cited, was the fact that there were 115,000 travel trailer units built in the past year compared to 15,000 10 years ago.

He said that industry figures now show that camping is no longer concentrated in the Golden Years age group, but rather is moving into the younger age bracket. The industry estimates that the 25-to 37-year-old market is now approximately equal to the market over 55 years of age.

He pointed out that automobile and truck manufacturers now are seriously recognizing the needs of the camping industry. Ford, for example, gives major engineering consideration to all vehicles, both cars and trucks, with an eye towards the camping industry.

Ford, in co-operation with numerous camper manufacturers, recently launched a Ford Camper Caravan which will tour Ford dealerships in approximately 40 cities in Northern California. The caravan will be at Jones-Minto Ford, Burlingame, June 15; Turner Motors, San Bruno, June 16; Fred Lautze, Inc., South San Francisco, June 17.

Ford light trucks such as the F-250, F-100, the sporty Ranchero and the new four-wheel-drive Bronco are a part of the caravan, as well as the F-350 truck and camper combination. These trucks feature built-in heavy-duty equipment packages, designed for mounting campers, towing mobile home or trailers. The F-100 and F-250 units are equipped with Ford's exclusive Twin-I-Beam front suspension system and powerful six and eight-cylinder engines.

Camper Club Is Organized

More than 35 camper coach families belonging to the newly formed California Camper Club held their initial meeting in February at O'Neill Park. Al Discoe was elected club president.

New Dimension To Outdoor Living

Periat's, San Mateo, Fourteenth Avenue at El Camino, presents the complete Dodge motorized unit for family camping fun, boating, fishing, hunting, etc.

Camp conversions incorporate various convenient bed and bunk arrangements, dinettes, kitchen facilities and storage space, adding a new dimension to outdoor living.

It's got that go-anywhere mobility, with home-style comforts!

Thousands of families have discovered the take-it-in-stride toughness of the Dodge Campwagons.

They make travel more fun and less expensive than ever before. The campwagon gives you the heft and muscle you need to take the strain out of highway or backroad driving.

It's no fun toiling up steep hills or not having ample reserve passing power! Conventional station wagons can't come close to matching Dodge's power, big 15-inch wheel and tire options giving extra margin of protection.

A new way of life is offered by Dodge at Periat's.

IT'S STILL OPEN

Of 20,000,000 land acres, 17½-million acres of Maine are in forest land — greatest per capita in the country. Some 96 per cent is privately owned, but most is open to camping, hunting and fishing.

REDI-POWER—This 110 volt AC mobile generator can be easily installed under hood of car, truck or in-board boat, or mounted on portable gas engine. Electric tools, home appliances, TV, etc. can be operated where house current is unavailable. Manufactured by Redi-Power Manufacturing, 1312 Old County Road, Belmont, it guaranteed five years, easily installed, doesn't interfere with engine.

Equip Cars For Trailers

In the first six months of the 1966 model year, Chrysler-Plymouth Division dealers have ordered more than 5,000 Plymouth and Chrysler cars especially equipped with the heavy duty trailer towing package.

The factory installation rate of the trailer towing package is up 67 per cent over last year on Chryslers, and 41.6 per cent on Plymouths.

The package consists of special cooling system, suspension, brake, axles, wheel, and electrical component. Recommended types of hitches are installed locally.

Special Gem Guild Exhibit On View at Mobile Home Show

The Northern California Mobile Home and Trailer Show invited the Galileo Gem Guild to show a special exhibit.

Galileo Gem Guild is one of several rock and mineral clubs in the Bay Area. They are a non-profit organization that enjoy the many wonders of nature.

The group meet the second Wednesday of the month at the Josephine Randall Museum at Museum and Roosevelt Way, San Francisco.

They have a program each meeting in relation to the earth sciences. Classes are held in the club room enabling members to learn how the earth was formed to the use of atomic energy, on a layman's level. Many people are brought together in a common interest.

If one enjoys camping out in our wonderful country, there are field trips on the average of once a month. Collecting fossils, jade, and semi-precious stones. Either to use as a special mineral display, shape and polish, facet, or carve.

The hobby can be inexpensive using a piece of glass, grit and leather or polish cloth. A person can make a lot of equipment with scrap or do-it-yourself kits.

Complete units can be purchased.

The club will have a working display in the East Building of the Cow Palace. Members will be glad to answer any question you might have regarding this popular hobby. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reme who are 87 and 89 years young respectively, will also be at the exhibit to help answer and show anyone interested in learning a little about rockhounding and how to get started.

MR. AND MRS. FRED REME

Owners Can Enjoy Varied Social Life

Leisure living, a friendly atmosphere and numerous recreational facilities are just some of the advantages of the average mobile home and travel trailer owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Average Mobile Home Owner may participate in bridge, backgammon, sewing circles, shuffleboard, croquet, dance lessons, pot-luck get-togethers, intramobile park pitch-and-putt tournaments, bicycling, or any individual hobby as part of the schedule of any of the major parks.

Throughout the West, there are hundreds of trailer clubs whose mottoes read "52 vacations a year." Each weekend an outing is planned. The site, usually not more than 199 miles from home, is selected in advance, along with water and parking facilities.

The wives pool their food plans and the old-fashioned pot-luck dinner is back in style. All clubs have a president, secretary and a co-ordinator for the many committees.

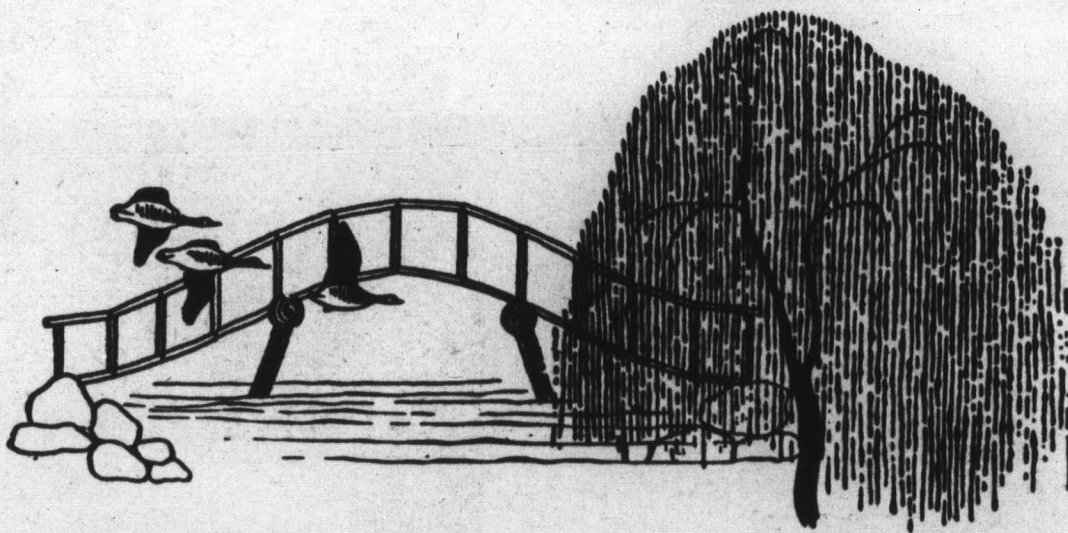

The average motorist seeing some 10 to 50 trailers along the highway may wonder if this sight is a mass exodus. He'd be surprised to discover it is just a large group of friends, all belonging to a trailer club, planning to spend the weekend together.

Large Park For Phoenix

A 1,300-space park for mobile homes is being built west of Phoenix freeway between Warner Road off-ramp and Ray Road off-ramp.

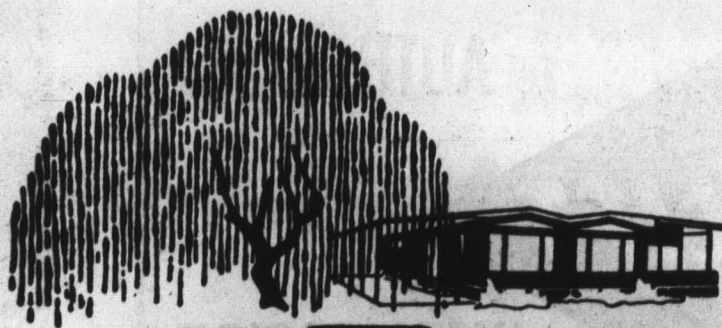

Covering 160 acres of ground, the park will be built in increments of 200 and 300 spaces. Owners will be a syndicate, headed by members of the Fong family of Hawaii.

Construction is under supervision of Sei Dyo.

SPRING LAKES is unique—it presents a special way of life for the Mobile Home dweller. 27 beautifully landscaped acres on the sunny side of Santa Cruz are dotted with lakes and streams. The charming Koran bridge pictured above leads across the water to a floating tea house. You must come to see for yourself the trout fishing along the streams, the country club atmosphere, the charming clubhouse with billiard room and library, the pool-patio complex, the walking paths through 3½ acres of Azalea Wood.

We're open for visitors every day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

RENDEZVOUS date and place for all caravaners wishing to go on the Wally Byam's caravan to Alaska trek. You must be at Great Falls, Mont., June 17-21 to register and get organized. There is no charge for going on a Wally Byam's caravan. Each person pays his own expenses. By rule of thumb, Byam estimates the cost at approximately $125 per month for gas and oil when caravaning. Food shouldn't cost much more than it does at home if you eat in your trailer. Scene above is one of the interesting places that have been visited by the Wally Byam caravans.

Beauty Will Officially Open Event

Pretty Susan Houghton, recently-crowned "Miss San Francisco," will officially open this week's Northern California Mobile Home and Travel Trailer Show at the Cow Palace.

The show opens a five-day engagement Wednesday, May 18, and will close Sunday evening, May 22.

Miss Houghton will cut the ribbon opening the show in one of the modern, de luxe mobile homes in the main arena of the Cow Palace. The show is 50 per cent larger than the 1965 show, which was the inaugural in the Bay Area. More than 100 mobile homes and travel trailers will be on display.

Mobile Home A 'Blue Chip'

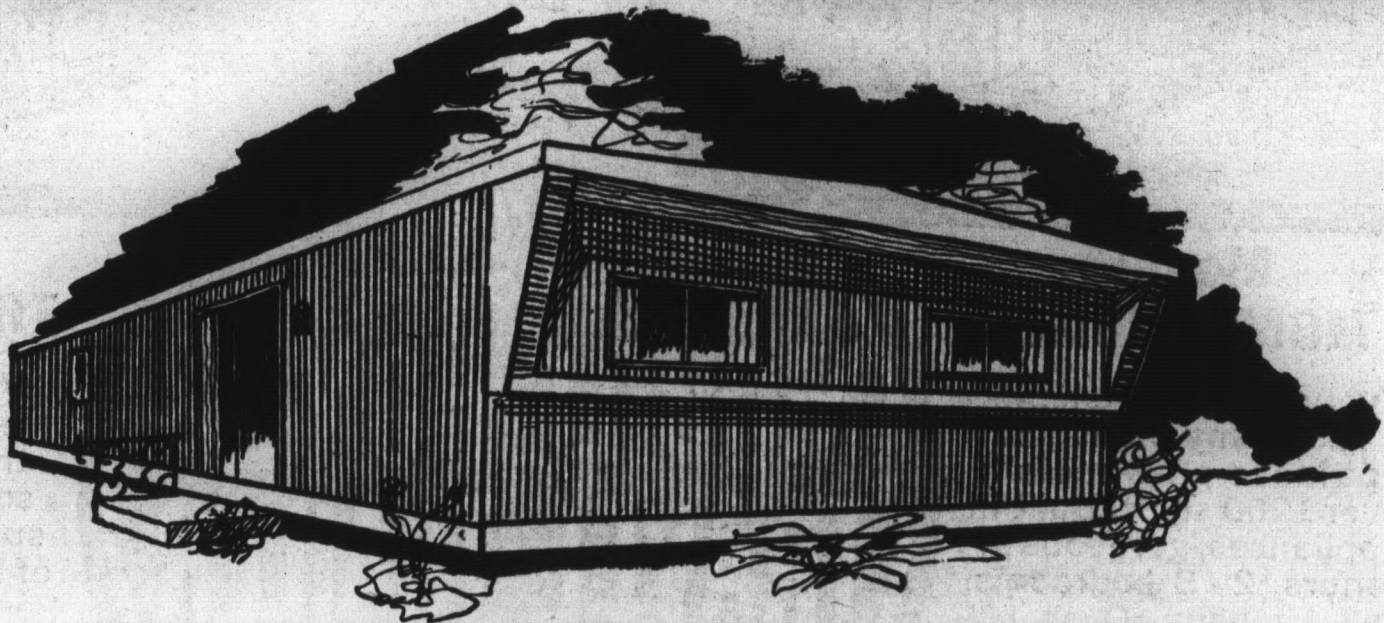

The mobile home industry is now one of the nation's "blue chips."

Once rated as a passing fad, mobile home living is now regarded as a permanent way of life, and the country's newest billion-dollar industry.

For the past 10 years, a growing substantial proportion of the nation's population has lived on wheels. Further evidence of the popularity of mobile home living is the fact that one of every nine new homes built is a mobile home.
